SEC. LANE NAMED PERMANENT CHAIRMAN OF BIG ROUND TABLE INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE.

DISCUSSION OF STRIKE MAY BE BANNED

Selection of Cabinet Man No Reflection on Secretary Wilson, Claim

HOPE PRESIDENT WILL BE AT SOME SESSIONS

Two Hundred Proposals to Settle Industrial Issues Will Be Made

By RALPH F. COUCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, was elected permanent chairman of the round table industrial conference as the first business of the second session which opened this morning.

In seconding Lane's nomination, President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, said he wished to make clear that the assent of the labor group of delegates to Lane's election was no reflection on Secretary of Labor Wilson, temporary chairman of the conference.

"The word from the White House this morning is so cheering that it may be possible for the President to appear before the conference closes," Secretary Lane told the conferees in accepting the chairmanship.

J. J. Cotter, Lane's secretary, and Lathrop Brown, were chosen joint secretaries of the conference.

Many Vacant Chairs

There were many vacant chairs when the conference opened.

The rules committee plans to prevent discussion of the issues of the steel strike in the conference, it was learned.

The committee report was to recommend that hours of meeting be from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and 2:30 to 5:30 p. m. No mention was to be made of the question of night sessions proposed by T. L. Chadbourne.

The committee had a hastened discussion, it was learned, over a proposal to bar the public and newspaper representatives from all meetings of the whole conference. Labor members of the committee who fought the proposal, said the final vote was seven to two against secret sessions.

According to present plans, the conference will not get down to the business of industrial peace until late today.

Many Proposals Due

Immediately after the organization business is finished more than 200 proposals for settling industrial issues will be presented to the conference, including one suggested by Charles W. Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard University. This proposal has to do with giving labor a share of management and profits of all industries.

Delegates from the national industrial conference board, it is expected, will present a plan for increasing production. Another proposal for sharing management with workers expected today is being prepared by the Plumb Plan League.

Under conference plans, as now arranged, all proposals will be submitted to committees before being given consideration by the conference as a whole.

CAR KILLS 3, CREW WITH GUNS ARE HUNTED

Battle Is Expected When the Police Find Fugitives at Oakland

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 7.—Three persons were killed, and four are dying as the result of a collision between a Key Route train and two automobiles at Claremont and College avenues. The train was traveling at 50 miles an hour when the automobiles were hit. The police are pursuing gunmen in the crew and a battle is expected. The street car was manned by strike-breakers armed with high powered rifles. In the car were guards similarly armed.

Hinging upon acceptance of the 8-hour day by the company, today was expected to see the bloody Oakland street car strike settle down to a bitter deadlock or give way to arbitration. Long conferences have been held by officials of the company with city officials, and while these sessions were in progress, armed guards using high-powered rifles, were firing upon mobs. Hurl Bricks at Cars

Gangs of strike sympathizers were hurling bricks at guards and street cars, and police were battering heads with their riot sticks. Five persons were shot late yesterday, none fatally, and many were bruised and beaten.

The only effect thus far of a federal injunction aimed to prevent violence, has been to increase the rioting. Yesterday's rioting exceeded in violence even that of Saturday afternoon when thirteen persons were wounded and injured.

Labor representatives have been absent from the conferences. They served notice they would not meet with the company until the latter agreed to the 8-hour day.

No announcement has been made by the company regarding plans for service today.

PASADENA, Oct. 7.—Bankers, merchants, doctors, students and club-women of Pasadena are to don overalls, and equipped with shovels, brush hoes and other implements, are to each donate a day's work in the Arroyo Seco laboring on the proposed municipal open-air theater. The project to put all Pasadena to work on the theater originated with Dr. Geo. Wharton James, California lecturer and author. His suggestions have met with favor and plans are now being considered for carrying them out.

SHIPBUILDERS STRIKE TO BE LONG STRUGGLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—The strike of 50,000 shipbuilders and metal tradesmen of the bay district settled down today to a long struggle when both sides reiterated their uncompromising positions. The men refuse to return to work unless the eight cent increase is given. The employers refuse to give the increase, having determined "to stand by the government in its effort to restore normal conditions."

ULTIMATUM TO HUNS IS ORDERED DRAWN

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The Supreme Council of the peace conference today instructed Marshal Poch to draw up an ultimatum for presentation to Germany, demanding the evacuation of German troops in the Baltic province. The German reply to the Allied demand that Field Marshal von der Goltz's troops be withdrawn did not satisfy the Supreme Council.

U. S. SOLDIERS HALT RIOTS IN STEEL DISTRICT

Four Thousand World War Veterans With Machine Guns Stop Radicals

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Two men were shot, several were beaten and over a hundred revolver shots were fired near the Lackawanna Steel plant this morning when a mob attacked a Buffalo and Lake Erie traction car enroute to the steel plant with working employees. The riot followed breaking up of a crowd of 500 men earlier in the day.

GARY, Ind., Oct. 7.—Order was restored under the reign of martial law in the Calumet steel district today. Riotous elements which had terrorized Gary, East Chicago and Indiana Harbor since Saturday evening, evidently lost all inclination for fighting when 4,000 regular troops, world war veterans under command of Major General Leonard Wood assumed control of the situation.

The first regular troops arrived early last night from Fort Sheridan. Governor James P. Goodrich sent for the regulars when 800 state militia had been unable to stop outbreaks. The militia was openly defied by a parade of striking steel workers and sympathizers. Scores of discharged soldiers, wearing uniforms, participated in the parade.

One of the first orders issued by General Wood on assuming control of the city was that no man should wear an army uniform unless actively engaged in army service.

Soldiers Are Everywhere

Auto trucks, carrying mounted machine guns, moved slowly through the Gary streets today. Soldier guards were stationed every few yards throughout the residence, industrial and the business sections.

The Fort Sheridan troops brought sixteen machine guns, sixty automatic rifles, trench mortars and one-pounders, which were mounted on specially designed trucks.

Troops arriving from Omaha early today brought additional heavy arms.

The state militia was withdrawn to Indiana Harbor and East Chicago where Adjutant General Harry B. Smith of Indiana issued a proclamation declaring that district under military rule.

General Wood announced that the military authorities would conduct the affairs of the city through the city government as far as possible. He issued orders against public meetings, parades and non-soldiers wearing army uniforms.

Federal Clearing House To Halt Strikes, Planned

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—A law creating a federal "clearing house" for labor disputes probably will be recommended by the Senate Labor committee investigating the steel strike, according to members of the committee today.

This is strongly favored by Senator Walsh, Massachusetts, and other members of the committee, including Chairman Kenyon.

"Undoubtedly some form of legislation to prevent a repetition of the steel strike will result," Walsh said today. "Government machinery ought to be devised to act as a clearing house for industrial disputes. This should take the form of a body to which either labor or employers could go to state their grievances. Let the commission or whatever body is set up, send its own investigators to the scene and make a report on the facts."

"Yes," replied the former artist, "I have forgotten it. I have little time to think of it. I have not played a piano for two years and three months. I do not regret it."

Double By Weaver In Tenth Frame and Single By Gandil Win Game

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

REDLAND FIELD, CINCINNATI, Oct. 7.—The White Sox came back today showing a fighting spirit that brought them from behind when the Reds apparently had the game won and the world's title in their hand.

Gleason's American League champions battled their way into a five to four victory over the Reds in 10 innings, bringing the game count of the series to four to two, with the Reds on the long end.

Weaver started the trouble in the tenth inning with the score standing 4 and 4. He lined out a double and went to third on a pretty single by Jackson. A single by Gandil to center brought Weaver home with the winning run. as it finds them. Then let the public judge who is in the wrong."

Legislation should go no further than this at present, Senator Walsh said, on the question of compulsory arbitration.

"You can never pass a law for compulsory arbitration," he continued. "That would take the right to strike from labor. That is labor's only weapon and it would not be given up without a fight. Compulsory conciliation, in which the strike would be delayed until after a conference, would only result probably in postponing a strike for a few months, during which time the employer could be stocking up goods with which to supply his trade during a prolonged strike. The employer could simply lean back and challenge labor to a finish fight, the employer being unable to save up against a longer period of idleness."

Government operation of such factories in this case would be the only solution, Walsh said.

Few refusals to negotiate would result if a government "clearing house" could be established to get the facts, he believes.

The committee is hopeful of getting to Pittsburgh this week but the date is not settled pending an agreement regarding treaty votes.

GERMANS LEARN NO ALCOHOL IS BIG HELP

Holds Up Hands In Horror But Finds Insanity Is on the Decrease

By CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
BERLIN, Oct. 6.—Although Germany will have none of the American prohibition, her statistical bureaus show that reduced war-time alcoholic consumption has had a beneficial result on the nation.

The German holds up his hands in horror at the idea that America has gone "dry." He simply doesn't comprehend. Nothing to drink? No, not a thing. What are they thinking of in America? he asks.

On the other hand his own statistics have proved to the German that alcohol is a demon, destroying as it goes.

While statistics are not available for the entire war period, and there are no figures for recent years, it develops that in Prussia there were in 1914 insanity cases numbering 6146 due to alcohol, while the figures kept dropping to 1917 when the last accurate statistics were available.

In 1915 alcoholic insanity cases numbered 3406; in 1916, 2469 cases, and in 1917, 1564 cases while deaths from alcoholism amounted as follows: 1914—917; 1915—650; 1916—271; 1917—148.

Suicide has been reported on the increase in Germany, but figures are lacking to prove this theory. During the war, the government kept no statistics to show where self-destruction stood. Since the revolution, however, it is reported that many middle-class people have been suicides. This is said to be due to despondency over Germany's future; to the fact that some of these middle class people have seen their small savings of years eaten up in the all-consuming drop of the German "valuta"; and to a general indifference toward life, engendered by four years of war.

Suicides in Germany during 1913 numbered about 15,000 while they dropped in 1914 by about 1000. At the same time there appeared a small number of cases of insanity in the German asylums. For 1913, there were 152,351 cases of insanity in Prussia, while in 1914 there were 149,699 cases; and this number dropped in 1915 to 138,792.

Reverting to the effect of alcoholism on the German vital statistics, it may be pointed out that, during the war, the German nation was shut off from some of the stronger alcoholic beverages—"schnapps"—to which it had formerly been accustomed, while its beer—the national beverage—went down from above four percent alcohol to about one per cent or less.

The German resents the idea of prohibition as an infringement on "personal liberty" and says that it will never come here. But, it is to be noted that only a few days ago a prohibition gathering assembled in Berlin, and favored the introduction of this system here.

Kids To Earn or Borrow Cash for Show Tomorrow

One of pretty riders and her mount.

All Will Turn on Pleasure Bent to the Big White Circus Tent

It's great to be a kid once more, and hear the lions growl and roar, and see the bears and feed the monks and sprinkle peanuts on the trunks of the elephants all in a row that keep a swinging to and fro; it's grand, you know, to be a kid and see that big Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus Show.

It's great to sit and watch the clowns perform their funny ups and downs, and see them laugh and hear them chaff until you split your sides in half; and watch those blokes play wicked jokes upon some unsuspecting mokes, as fat and thin they ramble in, to make you squeal and smile and grin.

It's fine to sit and watch the rings, that hold so many, many things, with horses here and horses there, and pretty girls with golden curls performing scary mid-air whirles, and drivers bold in care of gold, that race as in the days of old; and monkeys that will ride astride of ponies that are true and tried and throw a ball, but never fail; it's mighty hard to watch it all.

It's great to see the big parade, and swallow circus lemonade, and see the lights and wonder sights, and pretty girls in spangled tights; and feast your gaze upon the blaze that the circus tent displays. Oh, once a year, it's grand, you know, that you can see the circus show.

After unbosoming of the above the circus man intimated that the Carl Hagenbeck and Great Wallace Shows Combined would arrive in Santa Ana, Wednesday, October 8, aboard three special trains. Two performances will be given, at 2 and 8 p. m. The doors to the monster zoological paradise will be opened an hour earlier. A two-mile long street parade will leave the show grounds at 10 o'clock. The tents will be located on Fruit street between the S. P. and Santa Fe tracks.

MAYOR ADVISED NO ARMY CARS ON SALE

Army automobiles are not in stock at the supply depot at Fort Mason, San Francisco. This is the information that comes direct from the depot to Mayor Mitchell.

At the instance of a number of local residents, Mayor Mitchell recently wrote the zone supply officer there, requesting information on automobiles. Several parties here had heard that machines could be bought there at a very low rate and Mitchell wrote the letter as representing sixteen or seventeen would-be purchasers.

The letter from the zone officer was dated October 3 at which date there were no machines on hand. The mayor's name has been placed on the mailing list, and should it develop in the future that autos will be available there he will be advised.

WILSON BETTER AFTER NIGHT OF REST

President Does Not Wish to Leave Washington, May Remain There

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—President Wilson was better today following a good night's rest, it was said at the White House. He is still restless, it was said, and desirous of beginning work.

Nothing is to be brought to his attention, however, because it is feared if some matters are put before him, it will not be possible to keep him from attending to others.

The president himself does not wish to leave Washington, it was learned, feeling that there is no necessity for it and his doctors and family believe he can be kept quiet as effectually at the White House as elsewhere.

Last night's official statement from Dr. Cary T. Grayson said:

"The president had a fairly comfortable day with a slight improvement." The president continued to evince a lively interest in what is going on outside the White House, but there were no indications his physicians propose to change in any way their prescription of rest and quiet.

Stronger hope was expressed that the president is permanently on the road to recovery with the improvement shown in the last few days. Physicians regarded as a favorable sign the fact he is impatient to return to work and at times has been quite insistent.

Among the messages received at the White House was the following from President Ador of the Swiss confederation:

"The Swiss federal council, truly grieved to hear of your illness, begs you to accept its wishes of speed in and full recovery."

Another message came from President Eartigue of Haiti. It said: "With most sincere wishes for speedy recovery, send to his excellency the president of the United States the sentiments of genuine sympathy in which the government and people and Haiti heartily join."

An interesting check on some of these gunners who know their bird was flying a hundred miles an hour because they had to lead him 'steep feet, would be to paint a duck on a long board at the end of an express train running at say 60 miles an hour, and let the gunner blaze away at the painted duck at normal duck shooting ranges to check up the speed of the painted bird, with the "lead" necessary to give the charge to hit the wild duck alleged to have gone a hundred miles per. Neither train nor long-winged honker gives a fair idea of their actual speed because they are both large the little bird often deceives.

NEW RING CLASS TO BE STARTED BY CLUB

Industrial Division Will Include Employees In Many Occupations

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Extension of the boxing field in the United States to championships in the working classes is an unparalleled venture in American sport annals to be attempted by the new International Sporting Club of New York.

This club headed by Major A. J. Drexel-Biddle, millionaire sportsman and noted marine, and including some of the most influential men in the United States, has for its matchmaker, Tex Rickard, one of the best known promoters in the world.

Under the present chaotic conditions, which this club hopes to untangle, boxing includes only two branches, professional and an amateur class on a small scale. Major Biddle's plan is to establish an entirely new class to be known as the industrial division, and to include workers of every trade and occupation. At the head of the industrial championship division will be F. A. Robien, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union and president of the Metropolitan association.

The various industries will be divided into sectional classes and kinds such as the eastern lumber class, the eastern textile class, etc. Each class will be given heavyweight, middleweight, lightweight and bantamweight championships. Belts to be awarded to the winners by the club will be augmented by prizes of scholarships, educational tours, pensions and the like that will not destroy the amateur rating of the winners.

Belts Donated

Among the belts already donated are the following: Heavyweight championship of the eastern states lumber industry by the Connecticut Valley Lumber Company; heavyweight championship of eastern states textile industry by the Charlton Mills; heavyweight championship of the eastern states packing industry by Sperry & Barnes Company; heavyweight championship of the eastern states pulp and paper industry by Bird & Son; heavyweight championship of the eastern states woolen industry by the American Woolen Company; lightweight championship of the eastern states textile industry by the Coronet Worsted Company; heavyweight championship of the eastern rubber goods industry by the Converse Rubber Shoe Company; middleweight championship of eastern textile industry by L. J. Mutt Company; lightweight championship of eastern woolen industry by Asa Peck & Company; heavyweight championship of eastern machine shops by C. F. Roper & Company; heavyweight championship of eastern automobile industry by New Departure Mfg. Co.; heavyweight championship of eastern cotton industry by Slater & Co.; heavyweight championship of eastern hardware industry by Bridgeport Screw Co.

Elimination Contests

The various championships will be decided by a series of elimination contests between the aspirants in each division. The final bouts will be staged before the International Club in a $500,000 club house which is to be built in New York this winter.

Major Biddle, the sponsor and originator of the idea, believes that boxing is in the zenith of its popularity now, especially among the industrial classes. He is of the opinion that many returned soldiers who saw the physical advantages of boxing exemplified in the army, navy and the New York police and fire departments in which the winners will be pitted against the championships of the respective classes in England.

The club lists among its members prominent bankers, jurists, politicians, army and navy chiefs and sportsmen. It has unlimited financial resources and the prospects of success in the venture seem very bright.

NEW RING CLASS TO BE STARTED BY CLUB

Industrial Division Will Include Employees In Many Occupations

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Extension of the boxing field in the United States to championships in the working classes is an unparalleled venture in American sport annals to be attempted by the new International Sporting Club of New York.

This club headed by Major A. J. Drexel-Biddle, millionaire sportsman and noted marine, and including some of the most influential men in the United States, has for its matchmaker, Tex Rickard, one of the best known promoters in the world.

Under the present chaotic conditions, which this club hopes to untangle, boxing includes only two branches, professional and an amateur class on a small scale. Major Biddle's plan is to establish an entirely new class to be known as the industrial division, and to include workers of every trade and occupation. At the head of the industrial championship division will be F. A. Robien, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union and president of the Metropolitan association.

The various industries will be divided into sectional classes and kinds such as the eastern lumber class, the eastern textile class, etc. Each class will be given heavyweight, middleweight, lightweight and bantamweight championships. Belts to be awarded to the winners by the club will be augmented by prizes of scholarships, educational tours, pensions and the like that will not destroy the amateur rating of the winners.

Belts Donated

Among the belts already donated are the following: Heavyweight championship of the eastern states lumber industry by the Connecticut Valley Lumber Company; heavyweight championship of eastern states textile industry by the Charlton Mills; heavyweight championship of the eastern states packing industry by Sperry & Barnes Company; heavyweight championship of the eastern states pulp and paper industry by Bird & Son; heavyweight championship of the eastern states woolen industry by the American Woolen Company; lightweight championship of the eastern states textile industry by the Coronet Worsted Company; heavyweight championship of the eastern rubber goods industry by the Converse Rubber Shoe Company; middleweight championship of eastern textile industry by L. J. Mutt Company; lightweight championship of eastern woolen industry by Asa Peck & Company; heavyweight championship of eastern machine shops by C. F. Roper & Company; heavyweight championship of eastern automobile industry by New Departure Mfg. Co.; heavyweight championship of eastern cotton industry by Slater & Co.; heavyweight championship of eastern hardware industry by Bridgeport Screw Co.

Elimination Contests

The various championships will be decided by a series of elimination contests between the aspirants in each division. The final bouts will be staged before the International Club in a $500,000 club house which is to be built in New York this winter.

Major Biddle, the sponsor and originator of the idea, believes that boxing is in the zenith of its popularity now, especially among the industrial classes. He is of the opinion that many returned soldiers who saw the physical advantages of boxing exemplified in the army, navy and the New York police and fire departments in which the winners will be pitted against the championships of the respective classes in England.

In addition to the industrial classes, the club has completed plans for similar contests in the army, navy and the New York police and fire departments in which the winners will be pitted against the championships of the respective classes in England.

REDS WELCOMED BY THROG AT CINCINNATI

Fans Nearly Mob Players on Their Arrival; End of Series Near

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7.—Petain had a big day when he marched into Metz last fall. Pershing had everything his own way when he headed his Yanks down Fifth avenue some weeks ago. But Pat Moran, hero of all Cincinnati heroes, had his turn today when he brought his conquering Reds back home from an invasion of enemy territory with a 4 to 1 game count over the White Sox in the world series.

Crowds of Redland fans thronged the station and raised a din of welcome when the Red Special pulled in. Enthusiastic supporters acclaimed the Morans as world champions as they brushed their way to waiting taxicabs. This morning other crowds filled the hotel lobbies and almost fought for a position in the knots of men who were seeking the muscular mitt of some Red hero in a congratulatory grasp.

Cincinnati figures the series as to all intents and purposes concluded. Opinion was general here today that today's game would formally award the crown already accorded by tacit consent. Nevertheless, judging from the clamor made for tickets for today's game, which began in Chicago last night when Redland visitors got busy trying to corner all available pastebords, everyone in this river city wants to be in at the death of the American League champs.

Do Not Fear Kerr

The pair of shutouts registered by the husky right-handers, Ring and Eller, has made the Ohio fans so confident that they are minimizing the danger of the rock that looms ahead in the person of wee Dicky Kerr, who is slated for mound duty today. The jubilant fans now believe their idols are unbeatable and they not only fail to look on Kerr as a menace, but predict that he will not last through the game. Such is the Cincinnati spirit.

Walter Reuther, star left-hander and able slugger, was Moran's early choice as the pitcher who will be delegated a chance to lower the colors of the wee Texan who has turned in the lone Sox victory of the series to date.

Thus far Moran has shown the baseball world the greatest and most varied assortment of pitching stars ever let loose by one club in a world series. In five games he has won four without calling on a pitcher for a second effort.

Yesterday's game was noteworthy not only for Eller's magnificent work, but because it set a mark of 22 consecutive innings in which the Sox have been unable to score off Red pitching.

Swing Wildly at Ball

Eller's perfect pitching was crowned by nine strike-outs, six of which were consecutive. His "shine ball" had the Sox backing away from the plate and swinging wildly and hopelessly at his offerings. After the first inning his control was perfect and his confidence was always supreme.

Claude Williams made an effort to come back, but he lost heart after Eller himself had poled out a two-base hit and a wobble in the Sox defense helped him to third with none out. The entire Gleason clan seemed to give up at this break in the game. The climax of lost hope was reached when Schalk in a rage made a rush at the umpire, Riegler, in this inning, and was banished from the game.

Tonight may or may not see the 1919 series go into history. But the finish is not far off. The Sox rooters and the Sox themselves seemed to have abandoned hope and a hopeless club apparently would be hard put to beat these Reds right now.

LOVE OF ART GROWING

The love of art in Orange county is keeping pace with cultural development in America, the pessimism nad gloom of the wise-acres and hyper-esthetic dilettantes to the contrary notwithstanding. No one could be familiar with the activities of the Laguna Art Association, for instance, during the past year or so, and fail to realize that it is just such organizations as these which are indicative of the increasing interest that the public is taking in things artistic.

After all, whether the public says thumbs up or thumbs down is what counts in the long run, when questions of art are concerned. That form of art which appeals to the select few may exist for a space, but it can never be long-lived; in the end it must die of inanition.

The little band of artists and art lovers at Laguna Beach are doing a brave work, and it must, indeed, be gratifying to them to know that they are able to "carry on," not merely because of their own determination and will, but also because an increasingly large portion of the public is extremely interested and through its support is aiding the association in making the success it is.

Orange county, along with America in general, is steadily losing its insularity and provincialism in matters esthetic. Of course, there is a long road ahead—it will be many years before that point is reached where refinement and spiritual development, which are the true hand-maidens of art, become matters of instinct. But there is a steady advancement, and just as surely as America is gaining in commercial power, just as surely is it gaining in the power of appreciating things worth while in art.

There can be no doubt that as the years go by people are losing much of their love of "cult" and "movement." The fact that Orange county people are helping as they are to make the Laguna art project a success is not the result of their desire to follow a fad, so much as it is the result of constantly growing knowledge of "what is what" in painting—as well as in every other department of art.

There is an ever-growing portion of the public which refuses to be content with "chromos" on the walls. It is being realized more and more that an original work of art breathes forth a spirit all its own. People are learning that mere reproductions lack the breath of life. That is why the artists of Southern California, and of America, are finding an increasingly greater public.

ADVICE FROM FARMERS

Industrial workers and the general public came in for sound advice at the meeting of the International Farm Congress in Kansas City.

"While renewing to labor our expressions of friendship and good will," reads a resolution adopted by the convention, "we view with apprehension and disfavor the present turbulent conditions, particularly in the ranks of organized labor."

The farmers further protested that labor is "demanding more production of the farmers, while demanding of its own members less production." They went on record as deploring strikes except in "grave emergencies," opposing the unionization of police and other peace officers, condemning "the growing tendency toward idleness among all classes of people," and pledged themselves to continue producing to the extent of their ability. From which it may be seen that the farmers, as usual, have their feet on the ground.

Factory and mine workers will probably retort that the farmers can afford to work for maximum production, because they themselves are capitalists as well as workers, and get the money for all they produce. Organized workmen generally feel that they are working for somebody else rather than for themselves, and so grudge the extra production.

This view is natural enough, no doubt, from their standpoint. It is to be combatted by enabling the workmen to understand the mysteries of "overhead expense"—the costs that must be paid by the employer in addition to the men's wages—and by applying whatever practical remedies that may be at hand. Then, if they will not work as zealously to produce general commodities as the farmers do to produce food, it will be permissible for anyone to criticize them.

HABIT THAT COUNTS

A movement has been started in the schools of Ventura county which might well be extended to all school districts. It is a systematic campaign for the daily attendance of every child at his school.

Theoretically all schools insist upon such attendance. Practically many of them fail to secure it. Of course the place to start the movement is in the home.

It is natural to feel that the daily presence at school of a small child is unimportant. It is also natural to keep an older child at home to help when domestic matters press. It is the child who suffers ultimately. School is his business. It is his first training in those habits of promptitude and sticking to the job which alone can bring him success later in life.

If he is bright, he can make up for his occasional or frequent absences by an extra spurt. If he is slow, he falls behind, sometimes being classed finally among the mentally deficient when all that ails him is the fact that he is discouraged and uninterested because he has lost some essential foundation work.

Many a boy or girl who comes to juvenile delinquency got his start taking care of the baby when he should have been in school.

"A day won't matter," thinks the indulgent or selfish parent, and truly the day does not matter, but the habit does. It is not a question of what the school authorities require, or of heaven being full of days. It is a question of the habits of the child, and upon these his future depends.

Teachers' Pay

Review of Reviews

The teachers are probably the most poorly paid this season of any class of American workers. Thousands of able young instructors and professors have abandoned the schools and colleges, and gone into business pursuits; and many women teachers have found other occupations. Colleges have been making the most strenuous efforts to find means with which to increase the salaries of their corps of instructors. Harvard University, for example, has organized a campaign for an immediate sum of $15,000,000 as fresh endowment, the income of which is to be applied chiefly to an increase in the pay of teachers.

Temporarily the shortage of better teachers for public schools will be to the advantage of the untrained and immature, especially in small towns and country districts. The larger school systems will, even more than heretofore, offer inducements to the good teachers from the country. At least, school keeping will be shaken out of some old ruts. It is to be hoped that the resulting situation may stimulate the movement for consolidating rural schools, and for the adoption of a deliberate policy on the part of state governments for the maintenance of rural life. Country children should be as well instructed as those of the larger towns and cities. One of the results of the shortage of teachers, furthermore, may be the revival of conscious and deliberate educational effort in the home. Where the school teachers are young girls without professional training, who engage in the work as a temporary makeshift, it is not wise to rely too entirely upon schools for educating children. A sharp distinction should be made between professional teachers of character, experience and proved success, and those of the casual kind. The professional teacher should be well paid, and should be restored to that position of honor and influence in the community that belonged to the schoolmasters of an earlier day.

Look Back a Year

Buffalo Commercial

While evidences are coming to light of wanton waste and extravagance in connection with our conduct of the war, it might be only just and right that some of the investigators who are raising their hands in holy horror over army expenditures in France be reminded that our policy, even as late as a year ago, covered preparations for five years of war. We came to October, 1918, in the full flush of success in the field and the slowly dawning hope that Germany couldn't last much longer. But we did not know then that she would crack so soon. It is of little benefit now to bewail the fact that, in preparing for a long war, the United States spent much uselessly, as it turned out later. The extent of our preparations, too, is said to have done much to help in weakening Germany's morale. And while there should be no let up in the search for wartime profiteers and grafters, it will avail probing congressmen little to waste their time in sorrow over the fact that we couldn't foresee how long the war would last.

Homes Needed

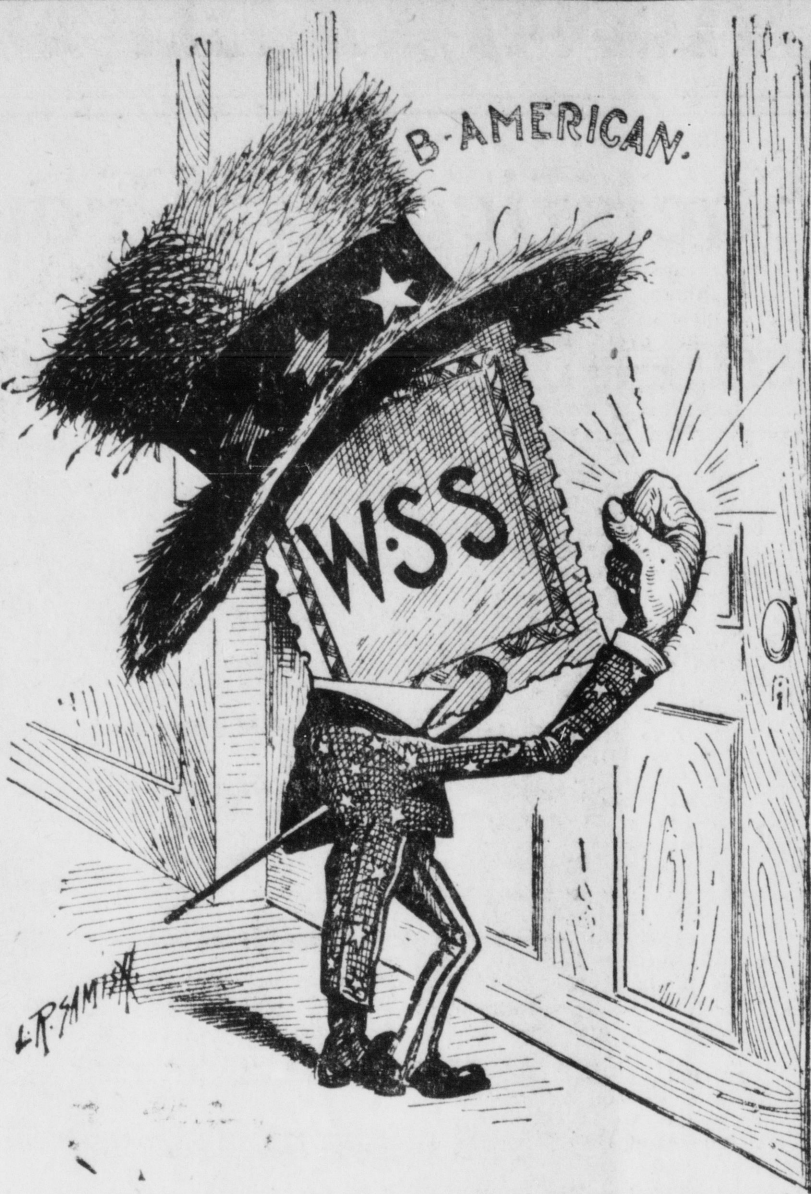

El Centro Progress

In Los Angeles papers it is not an uncommon thing to read want advertisements offering a reward to any person who will find a house that can be rented. The same condition might be said to exist in every city in Imperial valley. It is declared that 5400 families are known to be on the way to Southern California, where they will arrive within the next three months. These figures are based on information collected from storage companies, which are said to be unloading an average of ten consolidated carloads of household furniture every day in Los Angeles alone.

Each carload is composed of the furniture of six families. These figures refer to prospective permanent residents, the tourists constituting another problem in themselves.

Here is a condition that will gain population for any community that is preparing to house the people who wish to live in Southern California. If we wish to gain more residents we MUST have houses to offer them.

Work to Our Ideal

(By Franklin K. Lane.)

People who continue to believe that there is a bag of gold at the end of the rainbow are largely responsible for industrial and social unrest in America and other countries. These folks won't take the word of experienced men all down the road of history that there is no magical way to happiness.

Work is the salvation, materially and spiritually.

Our war morale has not been maintained. We have not the unity of purpose that prevailed then. We lack a common purpose, we Americans, though we are just as loyal, just as idealistic.

We can develop an aggressive, constructive program for America. Let us all work to make this country a better place in which to live, not by selfish enterprise, but by co-operation.

That is our ideal. Let us live up to it.

CHILDREN OF THE CITY STREET

Ye children of the street,
Who run to me with laughing cry,
Who run to me as I pass by,
And pluck my dress with courage fleet,
Then hang your heads, abashed and shy;
Ye children of the swarming way,
Whose world is dark and pinched and gray,
My heart beats quicker when you smile,
And walk with me a little while.

Pale blossoms, choked 'twixt briar and stone,
You reach to me as I pass by,
You reach to me, I know not why,
Who neither bairn nor flower have known;
For you I'd pillage God's blue sky—
The perfumed air, the golden sun,
The myriad stars—ay, every one
I'd give to you, ye bitter sweet,
Who bloom and wither in the street.

Oh, children of the cruel street,
So helpless and ashamed am I,
So weak to answer to your cry,
Thou bread I bring, or drink, or meat,
I bring no light from God's blue sky;
Ye children of the swarming way,
Whose life is starved and gloomy gray,
You stab me when you love and smile
And walk with me a little while.

TWO DEAD, PIER BURNS IN $1,500,000 BLAZE

BALTIMORE, Oct. 7.—Two men lost their lives, another narrowly escaped death when he was cut off from land at the end of a burning pier, and property worth $1,500,000 was destroyed in a fire that swept the plant of the Standard Gauge Company at Curtis Bay early today. The bodies of the dead men, both negro employees, are buried in the debris. The man caught on the end of the pier was taken off by a tug, the master of which risked destruction of his craft by coming alongside the blazing pier. Several small schooners were damaged. A series of explosions shattered windows several miles from the plant.

Law and Theology

Kansas City Star

A single page of the Star a few days ago carried two significant dispatches. One came from Boston, where the American Bar Association was in session, and the other from Williams Bay, Wis., where a conference of the Presbyterian New Era Movement was being held.

Elihu Root, former secretary of state, told the bar association the courts were being hampered by law and that "a few meager rules embodying fundamental principles are all that is necessary," and that he favored dispensing with the "business of attempting to bring about justice by statute."

The Rev. Joseph H. Vance, of Detroit, who spoke to the Presbyterians, declared that to Christianize America was the mission of the church, and that the church had in a large measure lost its sense of spiritual life and was not living up to its mission to spread the gospel among the people outside the church. Evidently the gospel is failing to reach a few people within the church, too, according to Doctor Vance's statement that out of the sixteen to eighteen hundred members of his Detroit church, twenty-five were the life of the institution.

According to the dispatch, Doctor Vance did not explain the fundamental cause of this situation. But the church seems to be suffering from the same trouble as the courts. There is a great body of tradition, theology, by which ministers are supposed to be guided, instead of "a few fundamental principles" that the individual minister should be able to interpret and apply as the occasion might demand.

Theology and law both have become complicated, at a time when the whole world is trying to get back to fundamental principles. Statute upon statute, precedent upon precedent, hopelessly confused and involved must be mastered by the ambitious student of law, and when he pleads a case, he must look to these for guidance; and the judge in passing decision must base his finding upon precedent. That would be very well if there were not so many precedents, each resulting from different conditions and circumstances.

Theology is made up of system laid upon system, and these the divinity student must master. And when he goes to preach to a suffering world, he must expound and be guided by these systems. If he does not do this some kindly conference will privately examine him in his orthodoxy.

The coffers and the church are institutions which should minister to humanity. To do this must they not free themselves from the cumbersome load of traditional teaching and doctrine and rely, as the great jurists have done, and as the Founder of Christianity himself did, upon a few fundamental principles?

OBSERVATIONS

"I have often wondered," says Admiral von Tirpitz, in his recent book, "what Frederick the Great would have said if the old war lord, walking stick in hand, would come down from heaven." Isn't Tirpitz getting his directions mixed?

The United States now has so many guns on its hands that an army officer says it will take $4,000,000 worth of grease to keep the rust off them. Germany will kindly bear that in mind. We have the grease, too.

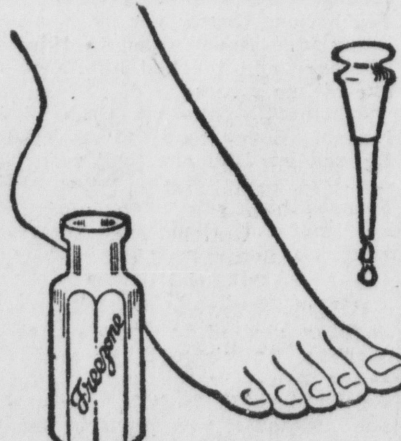

"All we desire," says King Albert of Belgium, "is to borrow the money necessary for our immediate development." Which reasonable desire is shared by about everybody we're acquainted with.

Attorney-General Palmer says the cost of living has come down 15 per cent—in spots. Have you noticed the spots?

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No bug!

CLOTHING FIRMS AMERICANIZING INDUSTRY

Rochester Plant, Employing 7000, First to Adopt Plan Barring Aliens

(Taken from the Los Angeles Evening Herald of Oct. 2nd, 1919.)

ROCHESTER, Oct. 2.—Announcement is made by Frank P. Doyle, organizer for the United Garment Workers of America, of the terms of the agreement entered into between the clothing manufacturing firm of Michaels, Stern & Co. and the affiliated body of the American Federation of Labor.

Acceptance of the agreement by Michaels, Stern & Co. marks the first instance in which the American Federation of Labor has been recognized by a Rochester clothing manufacturing firm; and it also represents the first step taken locally to place such a firm on a solid American basis, in that Michaels, Stern & Co. virtually enters into a partnership with the United Garment Workers of America with a view to completely Americanize both its large plants in this city.

It means that it will exclude from its employment all such workers in the industry who are not American citizens and show no disposition to become such.

In the agreement just signed Michaels, Stern & Co. accept the right of its employees to organize and to deal collectively with their employers through representative shop committees selected by the workers and the officers of both the United Garment Workers of America and its locals.

Both the firm and the United Garment Workers have pledged themselves to encourage the apprenticeship and entrance into the industry of American workers "who are attached to the fundamental principles of this government and who conform to American ideas and practices." A 44-hour week will prevail.

Michaels, Stern & Co. is the largest concern making clothing in Rochester. It employs approximately 7000 persons. There are about 20 regular factories in the city, exclusive of the scores of tailor shops, sub-contractors' establishments, pants factories, etc.

For several months a strike against the Michaels-Stern plant has been conducted by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, an organization independent of the American Federation of Labor, which controls nearly all of the other factories in the city. The leaders of the striking element are either foreigners or of foreign extraction. The demands of this element, which American clothing workers claim is of purely European origin, has been successfully resisted.

THE SLEEPING BEAUTY

She lies upon a gilded couch,
Her round, white arms beneath
her head,
And shadowy slaves about her
couch
Mute and immobile as the dead.
Soft azure silks her limbs enfold,
And shimmering gauzes fine as
mist,
And milky veils with broderie
scrolled
Vell her thick tresses' heavy twist.

Some glittering dream the day
beguiles,
Some sweet thought through
the dreaming slips,
For joy too delicate for smiles
Haunts the curved flower of her lips.

And shivered she seems from
stress and dote,
As one who sees in magic
trance
Through the dark forests of the soul
The silver-footed fairies dance.
No voice may break the calm profound
Nor echo pierce to where she lies
To stir the vision that has bound
The languid glimmer of her eye.

Nothing, till eventide shall press
Those lips and break the
tranced swoon
That holds in thrall this fair
princess—
The golden summer afternoon.

A Correction
In the account yesterday of Miss Carolyn Houghton's theater party, the name of Miss Louise Duntley was inadvertently mentioned as one of the guests, when it should have been Miss Louise Montgomery.

Travel in Hawaii
An afternoon of great pleasure was given the members of Travel Club
No. Two of the Ebell yesterday afternoon. They went in autos to the hospitable home of Mrs. George Reyburn at Garden Grove, where, with the assistance of Mrs. French, Miss Falborg and Miss French, a most delicious luncheon was served, twenty-even ladies being present.

The meeting was called to order with Mrs. J. R. Medlock in the chair.
The leader, Mrs. Paul was confined at home by illness. The resignation of Mrs. W. W. Anderson as secretary was read with great regret.
Mrs. P. L. Tople was elected to fill the vacancy for the ensuing year.
Mrs. George Balderston was elected press reporter. Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh's name was placed on the waiting list.
After the business was finished the program was taken in charge by Mrs.
Tople, assisted by Mrs. Montgomery,
the subject being, "Travel in Hawaii," three most interesting papers
being read.

The meeting adjourned at a late hour to meet November 3rd with Mrs. J. E. Paul.

Surprised on Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. Glenford Griffin were given a very delightful surprise last evening on the occasion of their third wedding anniversary at their home

on East Pine street.

The company of friends and relatives comprising the self-invited guests carried many appetizing dishes for an evening meal, after which music and cards were the diversions enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs.
Thomas Mahan furnished the music.
Best wishes for many more such happy anniversaries were showered
upon the young people by the guests, who numbered the following: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rossier, Mr. and Mrs. Thos.
Mahan, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Boggs,
Mr. and Mrs. Jim Henry, and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Boggs.

Anaheim, Yorba Linda Guests
Toros Chapter, Eastern Star, was hostess to a company of about three hundred last evening at its regular meeting, members from Anaheim and Yorba Linda chapters being especially invited guests. There was also a delegation from Los Angeles.

The long tables, upon which a delectable three-course dinner was served, were adorned with the rich tints of autumn leaves, luscious
grapes filling graceful brown baskets, placed at intervals. Streamers of the golden brown and red leaves were suspended from the chandeliers.

Following the discussion of the dinner, two candidates, Mr. and Mrs.
Ralph Preston, were initiated, the work being greatly enjoyed by the visitors and members.

Interesting remarks were made by several of the visitors before adjournment of the chapter.

New Families Here

G. E. Kilson and son, Louis, were in this city last week, the former owning a twenty-acre ranch on Mc-Fadden street, which he purchased a short time ago. He will build a fine bungalow on the property shortly,
where he and his wife will make their home.

Mr. Kilson's son, Louis, has also become interested in Santa Ana and last week purchased a four-acre grove with improvements adjoining his father's land and will also come here to reside
about the first of the year.

For Mrs. Sproull

Mrs. H. C. Dawes entertained the members of the First Ebell Travelers yesterday with a delightful luncheon honoring Mrs. I. M. Sproull, whose departure next week to make her home at Pittsburg, in Northern California, is a matter of keen regret to her friends here.

The luncheon table was a lovely picture with its wealth of autumn foliage and blossoms. The centerpiece was a basket of gorgeous dahlias, and autumn leaves in their tints of red and gold and brown were scattered upon the table in graceful sprays. Season cards, also suggestive of the season, marked covers for Mrs. Sproull, and for Misses J. W. Bishop, L. J. Carden, Arthur W. Ames, J. J. Roper, Henry P.
Bristol, W. E. Otis, Terry Stephenson,
Stephen Ross, M. F. Heathman, John
L. Dryer, C. S. Kendall, I. W. Van Cleave, Linn L. Shaw and W. L. Tubbs.

The members of the Travel Section were very happy to welcome back into their number Mrs. Kendall, one of the charter members, who had been absent for the past two years. They sincerely regret the departure of Mrs. Sproull, whose sunny lovableness has endeared her to her friends.

In the absence of the leader, Mrs.
J. P. Baumgartner, Mrs. J. W. Bishop
presided over the business hour.

Former Resident Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Boyle Workman of Los Angeles yesterday announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Workman, to James G. Scarborough, Jr. The news was told at a pretty bridge tea, at which Miss Workman entertained a company of forty-five. She was assisted by Mrs. Edwin

Stanton, Mrs. Andrew Baldwin, Miss Marion Wigmore, Mrs. Robert Meyer and Mrs. Forrest Bower. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Workman, who is one of the prominent girls in the younger set, is also one of the prettiest. She is a graduate of Marlborough and of Dana Hall, and was two years at the University of California. Scarborough is a graduate of the University of California and is in the law office of his father, James G. Scarborough, of Los Angeles, and of the firm of Scarborough and Ferry of this city. This announcement no doubt will be the signal for many functions, as the couple is very popular.

SOME GOOD RECIPES

Afternoon Tea Sandwiches

Is your preference for that tooth-some dainty, known as the "sweet sandwich?" You couldn't desire anything more delicious for your porch party or afternoon tea than the delectable combinations made from the following recipes:

Raisin Conserve Sandwich

One cup of seeded raisins, 1 cup of sugar, 1 lemon, the white of 1 egg with a touch of salt.

Removing seeds, boil the lemon 15 minutes. Put in food chopper together with the raisins and grind thoroughly.
Put this in a large bowl with the sugar and white of egg, and beat until all becomes light and foamy. Delicious sandwich filling. Is excellent also for layer cake, for a conserve on the table, or for spreading on wafers with
tea. Is economical and highly practical, as it keeps indefinitely in an open jar in a cool place, and calls for only such ingredients as every California pantry contains.—Mrs. N. H.
Marquis, 1338 West Fifth street, Los Angeles.

Fruit Sandwiches

Chop together equal proportions of dates and figs, and about half as many nuts. Moisten with cream or milk and spread between slices of buttered bread. Pineapple juice may be substituted for the cream or milk.—Mrs. N.
Gilbert, The Palms, South Garey avenue, Pomona.

Fresh Fruit Sandwiches

These fruit sandwiches are delicious with coffee. On a thin, smooth slice of bread, lay two or three halves of mellow peeled peaches, crushed slightly—enough to fit to the slice, sugar slightly, and press on a second slice, buttered if preferred. Half of a fresh mint leaf, torn into tiny bits, is good with this.

Pear sandwiches are even more delicious with coffee. Banana sandwiches are also fine; slice the banana lengthwise, and dust with sugar.
Orange sandwiches are very nice with tea. Slice very thinly with a sharp knife, and add all or chop some rind and add to the orange. Dust with sugar and nutmeg.—Mrs. A.
Louise Taylor, 1119 North Commonwealth avenue, Los Angeles.

Honey-Nut Sandwiches

To one cup of honey add one-half cup of walnuts which have been put through a food chopper, mix these well. Cut thin slices of either white bread or nut bread and butter each

FINDS FLOWERS DANGEROUS IF NOT KNOWN

Some Instances Are Pointed Out In Article "On Nature's Trail"

"It is rather alarming to realize that a number of the wild flowers of which we are all so fond contain deadly poisons," says an article in "On Nature's Trail" in the September issue of the Boy Scout magazine, Boys' Life.

"The daffodil is an instance in point. Its long, narrow leaves contain a powerful irritant poison, and children should be warned most strongly against chewing them.

"The common foxglove contains a poison which has the most extraordinary effect upon the heart, whose action may be reduced to only seventeen beats to the minute. Of any one thus poisoned, the pupils of the eyes are widely dilated, and his only chance of life is to lie absolutely still until the doctor comes.

"Everyone knows the wild arum or cuckoo-pint, with its big heart-shaped, glossy leaves. A most dangerous plant it is, too. If you chew a leaf your tongue swells enormously; so much so that you will be almost unable to swallow. Malted butter is the best remedy for poisoning by this plant.

"The most dangerous of all common hedgerow plants is the acornite or monk's hood, which has palm-shaped leaves. A very small dose causes a strange tingling all over the body, and partial blindness. A little more and death is certain.

"These are all plants which are more or less attractive to the eye. There are others which seem to advertise themselves as dangerous. The hemlock, for instance. If you pinch a leaf it gives out a nasty, mousy odor. One need hardly state that it is very poisonous, being a powerful narcotic. The sufferer sinks into a drowsy state, which, if remedies are not at hand, ends in death.

"All the nightshades have a sinister appearance and should be avoided altogether. There are also many common shrubs of which the leaves, if eaten, produce unpleasant results. Among these are the common privet, the elder, holly and laburnum.

"Plant-tree leaves will cause in some people an illness resembling a bad attack of hay fever, and this not through chewing but merely handling them. The eyes become red and swollen, while nose and throat are sore and inflamed.

"Quite a number of plants are possessed of short hairs on their stems or leaves, which will cause a rash to break out upon sensitive skins. One such is the Primula obconica, which is one of the commonest pot plants in greenhouse or on window sill.

"Bulbs of the Roman hyacinth are covered with a sort of light scale, which comes off on the hands and sets up an unpleasant irritation which sometimes spreads up the arms.

"Many who work in conservatories or glass houses often find that hyacinths cause severe eye trouble. The idea is that the pollen is the irritating cause.

PLAN BIG WORK FOR EPISCOPAL CHURCHES

Social Reconstruction and Industrial Peace Steps To Be Taken

To reconcile the conflicting elements of capital and labor included in the membership of the Episcopal Church as a first step toward nation-wide social reconstruction and industrial peace, is one of the striking features of a tentative after-the-war program which influential forces in the Episcopal Church have just completed. The plan was made public yesterday in New York by the Nation-Wide Campaign of the Church. It is felt that the democracy of the church offers ideal ground upon which employer and employee may meet and adjust their differences; and the measure of success attending this effort thereafter may stand as an example for general application.

The practical details of the plan have not yet been fully worked out; but included in its scope are suggestions for the establishment in the church parishes of social study classes where such problems as child welfare, unemployment of women, conditions of labor and industry, health insurance, the treatment of prisoners, the insane, feeble-minded, informed upon pending issues and be able intelligently to exercise their influence as citizens upon such legislation as may be proposed to remedy existing evils.

In connection with this plan, also, it is proposed that, under the auspices of the Joint Commission of Social Service of the Church there shall be col-

PITTSBURGH STRIKE IS ABOUT WORN OUT

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 7.—The steel workers strike, today appeared to be wearing itself out in the Pittsburgh district. Every mill of importance here claimed additional manpower and production gains today. Several mills, closed since the strike, was called, resumed operations.

Strike leaders maintained their forces were increasing and asserted they had made a net gain of 17,000 men here since the strike started. Strike headquarters latest figures declare 367,500 men on strike—a gain of 88,500 since September 22.

OFFICERS SEEK GIRL MISSING AT ANAHEIM

Deputies of Sheriff Jackson today were endeavoring to locate Maria Hernandez, 17, a Mexican girl who was reported today to have disappeared from the M. F. Hughes ranch, one and a quarter miles south of Anaheim, where she was helping her parents harvesting walnuts. The girl, according to the report made to the sheriff's office by Mrs. Hughes left the walnut grove yesterday to prepare a meal for her parents and has not been seen since.

ITALY CAN PUT TREATY INTO EFFECT

Final Action by Three Nations
Expected to Complete
Ratification

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Ratification of the peace treaty by the king of Italy will formally put the treaty into effect without participation of the United States as soon as final formalities have been taken by Great Britain and France, the other two ratifying powers. The king of England has yet to affix his signature to the treaty, which has already been passed by parliament, and the French senate has still to follow the lead of the chamber of deputies in accepting the pact. King George's signature and the endorsement of the French senate are no more than routine proceedings, wholly under the control of Lloyd George and Clemenceau.

By postponing these official acts, Great Britain and France can hold up complete ratification until the United States has signified its final intentions toward the treaty. It is not probable that an indefinite postponement will be risked, however. With Great Britain, France and Italy having accepted the treaty, the three approvals stipulated by the peace conference before the treaty can become operative will have been obtained. Therefore, Germany will be officially at peace with Europe and a resumption of diplomatic relations can be begun. The supreme war council in Paris will discontinue its dictatorship and its principal functions will pass to the League of Nations.

The first meeting of the league must be summoned within fifteen days after peace officially comes into operation. Article 48 of the treaty provides that fifteen days after the treaty becomes effective a commission of five shall be appointed to trace the boundaries of the Saar Basin. One commissioner each is to be appointed by Germany and France and three by the council of the League of Nations. It is probable, therefore, that the first meeting of the league will not be in Washington, but in some European capital, possibly Paris.

This means that if the British and French governments take immediate steps to complete ratification of the treaty, America after having won the war, will not be in at the peace.

Silk Jumps $6.50 a Pound After Japs' Investigation

Commission of Little Brown Men Visit This Country, Observe Situation and Boost In Prices of Silk
Follow Immediately

That silk was jumped from $7.50 a pound to $14 a pound by Japanese immediately following the investigation of the markets in the United States by a Japanese commission is the statement of Gus Stern, formerly manager of the Stern & Goodman stores at Fullerton. Stern is now head of the Albert, Steinfeld Company at Tucson, Ariz., and has just returned from a buying trip to New York.

Stern is well known throughout Orange county through his activity in the business life of Fullerton and the Associated Chamber of Commerce of Orange County when he was a resident at Fullerton. He has given a representative of the Fullerton Tribune an interview in which he sets forth conditions in the East with such clearness as to make the article one full of interest to everyone. It is as follows:

"You ask me whether conditions in New York are very different now from what they have been in the last year, and the only answer I can give you is that the changes in the merchandise conditions since the beginning of the war have been so radical that a comparison of the present conditions with the pre-war conditions would be absolutely ridiculous.

"During the war, whenever we had an increase on any manufactured commodity, the reason therefore was given that there was a scarcity of labor, and the manufacturer was not allowed to do anything but manufacture necessities. In many instances, the reason given was that there was no raw material to be had, and that many factories had been commandeered by and turned over to the government, and therefore the supply had been cut to such an extent that even the limited demand we had at that time could not be supplied. Since the signing of the armistice, and the rapid decline immediately following, the public, as well as all merchants and jobbers, east and west, were led to believe that the increase in merchandise during the war was strictly due to the reason previously given.

"From November 11 to March 15, a decline in all raw materials took place. Every one thought there would be a readjustment period coming and merchandise, raw materials, and all other necessities of life would slightly rise in price, and then finally settle to a stationary basis. When towards the end of March and around the first of April, a steady rise in prices was announced by manufacturers and converters, many merchants looked upon this as merely a temporary market rise and hundreds of various reasons had been advanced for that, and the majority of retail merchants, not knowing whether the market had really settled, would not buy merchandise, even though they were advised to do so by their eastern representatives.

Exceeds Expectations
"I followed the market very closely, and yet on my arrival in New York, even though I expected to see conditions very radical and the market very high, it was far beyond my expectations. For instance, raw silk was sold by the pound in New York, around May first, for $7.50. Manufacturers who had sold goods for fall at from $1.50 to $2 per yard, had covered in raw silk, speculating that labor would be furnished at the same rate as during the spring delivery.

"A commission which traveled under the instructions of the Japanese government visited all silk mills and warehouses in New York, and found to their utter surprise that all the raw silk on hand in the American warehouses was not sufficient to cover and make up the yardage for fall delivery by the American manufacturer. Immediately after this commission returned to Japan, raw silk advanced from $7.50 until it reached the price today of $14 per pound. The old way that manufacturers had of figuring was to add ten cents to the yard of silk for each advance of one dollar per pound on raw silk. In addition to this the silk mills settled three distinct strikes with their labor until today the man who runs the loom receives a salary of from $75 to $85 per week of 40 hours, while in former years 30 hours per week was his working time and his salary was approximately $45 per week. In reality, this man, instead of working 40 hours, works from 25 to 30 hours per week, lying idle the rest of the time. This same condition exists with the girl who feeds the loom. She works 40 hours per week, and instead of receiving $15 per week, she gets $30.

"Now, taking into consideration the rise in raw silk, the reduction in working hours, and consequent lessening of production, the raise in wages, the increased demand, the cutting down the supply, you can readily see why silk has gone up to such an extent, and why there is a shortage now in yardage silk, silk hosiery or anything manufactured, in which silk is used.

Silk Not Alone
"This is not the case with silk alone, but the same thing holds good on manufactured cotton goods. The hours have been reduced, the wages have been raised, the production has been cut almost in half. I have been in mills where there were as many as 22 looms standing idle on account of the inability of the manufacturer to secure efficient help, even at the higher wages and shorter hours.

"In reference to manufactured wool articles, the government has not completely released its wool supply. England has placed an embargo on all Australian wools. She has commandeered all the flax in Ireland, and only releases 10 per cent per month for manufacturing purposes, as she is still using a great deal of the flax for aviation purposes.

"Shoes, men's clothing, hats, ladies' suits and ready-to-wear, and everything is so much in demand, and the supply has been so greatly decreased on all of these commodities, that the continuous rise in prices is almost unbelievable.

Orders Are Reduced
"There was never, in the history of the United States, a time when there were so many buyers from all over the United States, at one time in the market, and the manufacturer and converter and jobber is so independent these days on account of the fact that he has so much greater demand for merchandise than he can supply, that he continuously has to reduce orders instead of asking you to buy more. Commercial conditions have never been this way in the history of the world, as people who have been in business for fifty years, and who have thorough experience, have lived through the Civil War and the three panics, are stating all over the country.

"There are buyers in New York from all over the world. I was astonished to learn that a Chinese buyer had made an offer on one thousand dozen silk hosiery and offered to buy silk underwear. Upon investigating I was told that all the Chinese soldiers who have been in Europe and have come in contact with the American army, were so impressed with their mode of living that they returned to China Americanized. I was told on very good authority, by a man who had just returned from China, and who was the agent for this Chinese buyer, that four million Chinamen had cut off their queues and were trying to dress like Americans.

"I was at a hosiery mill when a Danish buyer bought $50,000 worth of men's hose, and offered to increase the order to $500,000. The manufacturer merely laughed at him. It was an impossible thing for him to handle.

Supply Can't Meet Demand

"And so it is with every manufactured article in the United States today—three times the demand (and often in excess even of that)—and such demand cannot possibly be supplied.

"While in Boston, a shoe buyer made an offer for $21,000,000 worth of shoes, to be sent to Norway, Denmark and Germany. The shoe market immediately went up, and whether or not merchandise was sold to this buyer, it is a fact that the market was bare of shoes in Boston for three weeks, and is so even to this day.

"The labor conditions, and the supply of manufactured merchandise in all commodities, are about on an equal basis with the explanation I have given concerning the silk market. There is not one single manufactured article that has not increased from fifty to one hundred per cent in the last three years.

"We have no more excuses to give like we had before the war; consequently we will have to make up our minds that we are living in a new era. We must pay more for merchandise and remember that we are today the market center of the world. Thousands of manufacturing plants have opened up in New York city, manufacturing everything that we ever imported from any country, and now, to make matters worse, many manufacturers from whom we bought merchandise, are asking us an increase of from 10 to 25 per cent before they can continue to manufacture the merchandise they have sold for fall delivery, as otherwise they are unable to keep their men at work.

"The conditions that exist in New York today are coming westward, and there is no question but that in time the public will realize that we are living in a new era, and forget all about the old way of doing business."

AUTHOR SAYS HE HAD TALK WITH DEAD SON

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the famous author, described last night how he heard the voice of his son, who has been dead for a year. He said:

"I was in a darkened room with five men, my wife and an amateur medium. The medium was bound in six places with a string. My wife gave a cry. Then I heard my son's voice. He said:

"I answered, 'Yes, my son.' He said:

"'Forgive me.'

"I knew to what he referred. We had only one difference in all his life time—his non-belief in spiritualism. I reassured him. He said:

"'I am so happy.'

"Then his voice faded.

"I state definitely that I spoke to my son and heard his voice. I would be the most blasphemous liar if what I have told you is not true."

Just What She Needed

"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets some time ago and they proved to be just what I needed," writes Mrs. Volta Bankson, Chillicothe, Mo. "They not only relieved me of indigestion but toned up my liver and rid me of backache and dizziness that I had been subject to for some time. They did me a world of good and I will always speak a good word for them."

BRITAIN WORRIED BY WILSON'S CONDITION

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The British press showed great concern over President Wilson's condition. The Chronicle says:

"It is not too much to say that no sick bed in our time, perhaps in any other time, has commanded such universal concern and sympathy. Not only America, but all mankind is involved in Wilson's welfare."

"Great Britain," the Daily Mail says, "awaits the news of President Wilson's condition no less anxiously than the people of America. A strain on the nervous system is the penalty of the conscientious fulfillment of any great task."

You can learn a lot from ADVERTISING

The main thing an advertiser wants to do is to tell you plainly just how and why his goods are worthy of your consideration. You can learn a great deal from that alone, because many things you see advertised are the things you buy and use in your regular daily life. By reading the advertisements, you can learn the names and read descriptions of the things that are best and most satisfactory.

But advertising teaches even more than that. All advertisers try to make their advertisements themselves valuable to you.

A good many people have learned a whole lot about good music, good books, good food, good clothes, ways to keep healthy, ways to live comfortably, ways to keep the house and grounds looking well—they have learned all these things and many other things just by reading advertisements.

Read the advertisements right along, and you will learn a great deal that will be helpful and valuable to you as you go through life.

REPORT ON FLU PUBLISHED BY U. S. BOARD

Review of Last Year's Epidemic and Cautions For the Future Outlined

Contrary to the opinion expressed frequently during the early weeks of last year's pandemic by a number of observers, the studies of the U. S. Public Health Service indicate that the epidemic was not a fresh importation from abroad. Careful study of the mortality statistics of the United States shows that there were a number of extensive though mild forerunners of the pandemic during the previous three or four years. In Chicago and New York in the winter of 1915-16 for example, these were sufficient to mark to occasion considerable public comment at the time, leading in the latter city, to a well organized "Don't spit, don't sneeze" campaign on the part of the health authorities. The reports of the U. S. Public Health Service of January, 1916, show influenza to be epidemic in 22 states including practically all sections of the United States. The epidemic was generally of a mild type and has since been almost forgotten. It occasioned, however, a noticeable increase in the recorded death rate from pneumonia.

In the spring of 1918 there was another sharp rise in the mortality from pneumonia. In the larger cities of the Atlantic seaboard these increases occurred during January, February and March. In the rest of the country, especially the central and western states, the increases occurred in April, a month during which pneumonia mortality is generally on the decline. This increase was sufficient to indicate a strong departure from the normal. The increased mortality rate extended into May and in some areas even longer.

Earlier Outbreaks
This occurrence has, it is believed, a definite significance in relation to the influenza epidemic. In the United States in the spring of 1918, a number of definite local outbreaks or influenza were observed; thus in Fort Ogden, near Chattanooga, Tenn., in March; in Chicago during March, in San Quentin prison, California, in April, October and November. At Camp Funston recurrent outbreaks of pneumonia were observed in March, April and May of 1918 and were definitely associated with coincident epidemics of a mild type of influenza.

The rise in mortality from pneumonia, this very similar type of disease, in the spring of 1918 is so sudden, so marked and so general throughout the United States as to point very clearly to a definite relation. Everything indicates that the increased mortality from pneumonia in March and April of 1918 was the consequence of a beginning and largely unnoticed epidemic of influenza, the beginning in this country of the pandemic which developed in the autumn of that year.

In the British cities the epidemic manifested three distinct waves—the first and slightest in point of mortality occurring in June and July, the second and most severe in November, the third in February and March. Data which need not be cited here in detail indicate that the course of the epidemic in western Europe generally was similar but the mortality far greater. In the United States the epidemic developed more largely in a single wave during September, October and November. If, however, the epidemic already mentioned as occurring in the spring be considered the first phase and the explosive outbreak of the autumn the second, a third phase of recrudescence is quite evident in many areas. In general, this winter recrudescence was less marked in those cities which suffered most severely in the autumn epidemic.

The prevalence of a serious epidemic of influenza was first recognized in and around Boston in September of 1918. Within about two weeks it was general in the Atlantic seaboard, developing a little later among cities further west. Rural districts were usually attacked somewhat later than large cities in the same sections.

Geographic Relation
In the cities east of the line of the Appalachians the excess mortality from pneumonia and influenza during the weeks ended September 14, 1918, to March 1, 1919, was approximately 5.6 per 1000; in cities between the Rocky mountains and the Appalachians 4.35; and in those of the Pacific Coast 5.55 per 1000.

Notwithstanding this general geographic relation, there are notably wide differences in the mortality rates of individual cities in the same section, even between cities close together, differences which are not as yet explained on the basis of climate, density of population, character of preventive measures exercised, or any other determined environmental factor.

More details can be given only the briefest mention here. In order to secure reliable statistics of morbidity the Public Health Service has made special house-to-house surveys in a number of localities, ascertaining the number of persons affected, the dates of onset, and a few other simple, accurately enumerated groups representative of the general population. Partial analysis of the results of these surveys in eight localities, giving an aggregate of 112,958 persons canvassed, shows the following as the chief facts of interest:

The percentage of the population attacked varied from 15 per cent in Louisville to 33.3 per cent in San Antonio, Texas, the aggregate for the whole group being about 28 per cent. This agrees with scattered observations in the first phase of the 1889-90 epidemic, when the attack rate seems

Bolsa and Newhope Ask Supervisors To Gravel W. First

TAXPAYERS of the Bolsa and Newhope school districts today filed a petition with the board of supervisors, asking that West First street from the Santa Ana river to its intersection with the Huntington Beach boulevard be covered with gravel. The road is much traveled and in very bad condition, the petition states. The petition is signed by the following:

H. M. Penn, C. P. Cunningham, R. A. Patterson, C. S. Walter, Aaron Wilcox, N. Melvin, C. W. Blankenbeckler, J. S. Crouch, B. A. Sweet, Frank Yopp, Jess Gubi, Thomas E. Creed, H. J. Crouch, D. E. Jesse, J. W. Mosher, J. D. Addington, William Davis, Henry Davis, Jake Davis, P. C. Stroud, E. B. Lentsford, W. L. Culley, Jesse Driskill, Mary R. Hess, E. H. Jackson, R. C. Saunders, B. F. Crutchfield, J. J. Kelly, N. Napoleon, O. L. Parker, W. E. Van Gorder, D. W. Head, W. J. Freeman, C. H. Hickman, Martin D. Jiles, Roy A. Parker.

to have varied within about these limits.

The case incident was found to be uniformly highest in children from 5 to 14 years old, and progressively lower in each higher age group. It was slightly higher in females than in males of corresponding age; usually higher in the white than the colored population.

Ratio of Pneumonia
The ratio of pneumonia cases to total population varied from 5.3 cases per 1,000 in Spartanburg, S. C., to 24.6 per 1,000 in the smaller towns of Maryland. The pneumonia rate showed little correlation with the influenza attack rate.

The ratio of deaths to population varied from 1.9 per 1,000 in Spartanburg to 6.8 in Maryland towns. The death rate was by no means parallel to the influenza attack rate, but was closely correlated with the pneumonia rate. In other words, the case fatality rate of pneumonia tended to be fairly constant, around 30 per cent. The death rate was notably high in children under one year old, in adults from 20 to 40 and in persons over 60; higher in males than in females of comparable ages; higher among the whites than the colored.

Concerning the important question of immunity conferred by an attack of influenza, the evidence is not conclusive, but there is reason to believe that an attack during the earlier stages of the epidemic confers a considerable, but not absolute immunity in the later outbreaks.

In general the pandemic of influenza was largely similar to that of 1889-90 in its development, first a mild form, later in a severe world-wide epidemic, in the rapidity of its spread and its high case incidence. It has, however, been notably different in a much higher mortality, especially among young adults. Such evidence as has been gathered confirms the conclusion previously reached that it is transmitted directly and indirectly by contact. It appears probable, however, that the infection was already widely disseminated in this country sometime before a serious epidemic was recognized.

Despite the fact that there is still some uncertainty as to the nature of the micro-organism causing pandemic influenza, one thing is certain, that the disease is communicable from person to person. Moreover, judging from experience in other diseases, it is probable that the germs, whatever its nature, is carried about not only by those who are ill with influenza, but by persons who may be entirely well. Everything which increases personal contact, therefore, should be regarded as a factor in spreading influenza.

Use of Face Masks
Much was heard last winter of the use of face masks. Though the use of suitably constructed masks will reduce the interchange of respiratory germs through inhalation, it must be remembered that there are many other paths by which such germs are transmitted from person to person. Improperly cleaned eating and drinking utensils in restaurants, soda fountains, etc., roller towels, infected food—these are only a few of the common vehicles of germ transmission. The use of face masks appears to make people neglect these other paths of infection, and so the use of face masks has not been attended with the success predicted for them. It would be more successful in combating influenza greater attention must be paid to the factors just enumerated.

IF THIN AND NERVOUS, TRY PHOSPHATE

A French scientist has discovered an organic phosphate which should be a very effective remedy for weak nerves, sleeplessness, thinness and lack of strength, energy and vigor. Its substance is described by specialists as identical in composition with certain vital elements naturally found in brain and nerve cells and one which when taken into the human system is quickly converted into healthy living tissue.

This phosphate is already widely known among druggists in this country as Bittro-Phosphate and some physicians claim that through its use strength, energy, vigor and nerve force are frequently increased in two weeks' time.

Dr. Frederick Kelle, Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says it should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital in the United States. As there are a great variety of so-called phosphates, those who wish to test this substance should be sure to get the genuine Bittro-Phosphate.

$1850 FOR OLIVE FOLK IN CRASH SETTLEMENT

Three Damage Actions Resulting From Crossing Accident Adjusted

Notification that a settlement out of court had been reached in three damage actions instituted in this county on behalf of Jerry Seaman and his wife and daughter as the result of an accident occurring at Olive in 1917 when an automobile was struck by a locomotive, was received today by Attorney S. B. Kaufman from the United States Railway Administration.

While the suits were brought in Orange county, they were later transferred to the United States District Court in Los Angeles, because of the fact that damages of more than $2000 were asked by the Seamans and because of the control of the railways by the railway administration.

The settlement reached, according to the information received by Attorney Kaufman, provides for the payment of $1850 by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway to the three plaintiffs.

The accident upon which the Seamans based their complaints occurred at a railway crossing at Olive on December 30, 1917, when an automobile driven by Jerry Seaman was struck by an engine, which was running backward. As the result of the collision Seaman and his wife, Rosie Seaman, and his daughter, Dorothy Seaman, were badly injured. The automobile, according to the complaint, was almost entirely demolished.

The complaints were filed by Attorney Kaufman in the local superior court in December, 1918. It was alleged that the engine was being run at a speed of 45 miles an hour when it struck the Seaman automobile. No warning bell or whistle was sounded by the engine crew, according to the complaint.

It was further alleged that the tender of the engine carried no light and that a wig-wag signal at the crossing in question was out of repair and failed to operate as the engine was approaching.

The three plaintiffs asked damages aggregating $20,000.

Direct Action Gas Ranges

Go Out and Enjoy the Beautiful Afternoon

Supper Will Be Ready When You Return

The Convenient Stove

The Direct Action Oven Heat Regulator is a wonderful new invention that enables you to control the heat of your oven at any degree desired. Instead of guessing at your oven, you simply set a marked wheel for any wanted temperature, and the Regulator automatically controls the gas to maintain that heat for any period of time. This removes all the worry from your baking, as you KNOW your baking must be right because you KNOW your oven heat is right.

Another wonderful thing is that the Regulator enables you to cook a whole meal in your oven unattended, while you enjoy an afternoon off with your friends, or at the matinee.

Economical

The baking oven burner is placed directly in the oven. There are no flue walls or solid oven bottom between the baking and the heat of the burner. Hence, your oven will heat instantaneously. You can place your baking directly in the cold oven.

Saves Gas

Burner sets in oven. No extra plates to heat.

No Stooping

After lighting the oven burner you simply set the Temperature Wheel—THAT IS ALL.

FARMERS NOT IN SCHEME TO PUT BARLEY HIGH, SAYS JEROME

With Mills Holding Seed at $100 a Ton, No Profit-earning By Growers

That charges of profiteering, often made against the farmer, are in many instances entirely ill-advised, was the statement today of W. C. Jerome, who calls attention to the fact that seed barley is now being held at $100 per ton by a number of the large milling companies in Southern California—a price which, according to Jerome, is entirely unjustifiable when cost of production is taken into consideration. About four months ago barley was being bought in the Imperial valley, at prices ranging from $49 to $54 per ton, according to Jerome, who contends that if from $60 to $65 were being asked at the present time, these prices would allow a fair margin of profit to the mills, even after the cost of cleaning and handling had been allowed for. Information received by Jerome from E. B. Holt, a rancher at Heber, in the Imperial valley, is to the effect that one morning $80 per ton was being asked for uncleaned barley. Holt told a friend about this, but when the friend arrived at the place where the barley was being sold, two hours later, the price had gone up to $100 per ton. It is Jerome's belief that outside of the barley held by the milling companies there are not more than approximately 10,000 sacks of seed barley available in this county at the present time. Ranchers who retained seed barley from their crops this summer are fortunate in not being caught in the raise, Jerome states.

BOB SPEED HITS HIGH SPEED IN ACQUIRING FAMILY

Former Paulerino Farmer Lad Is Proud Daddy of New Twins

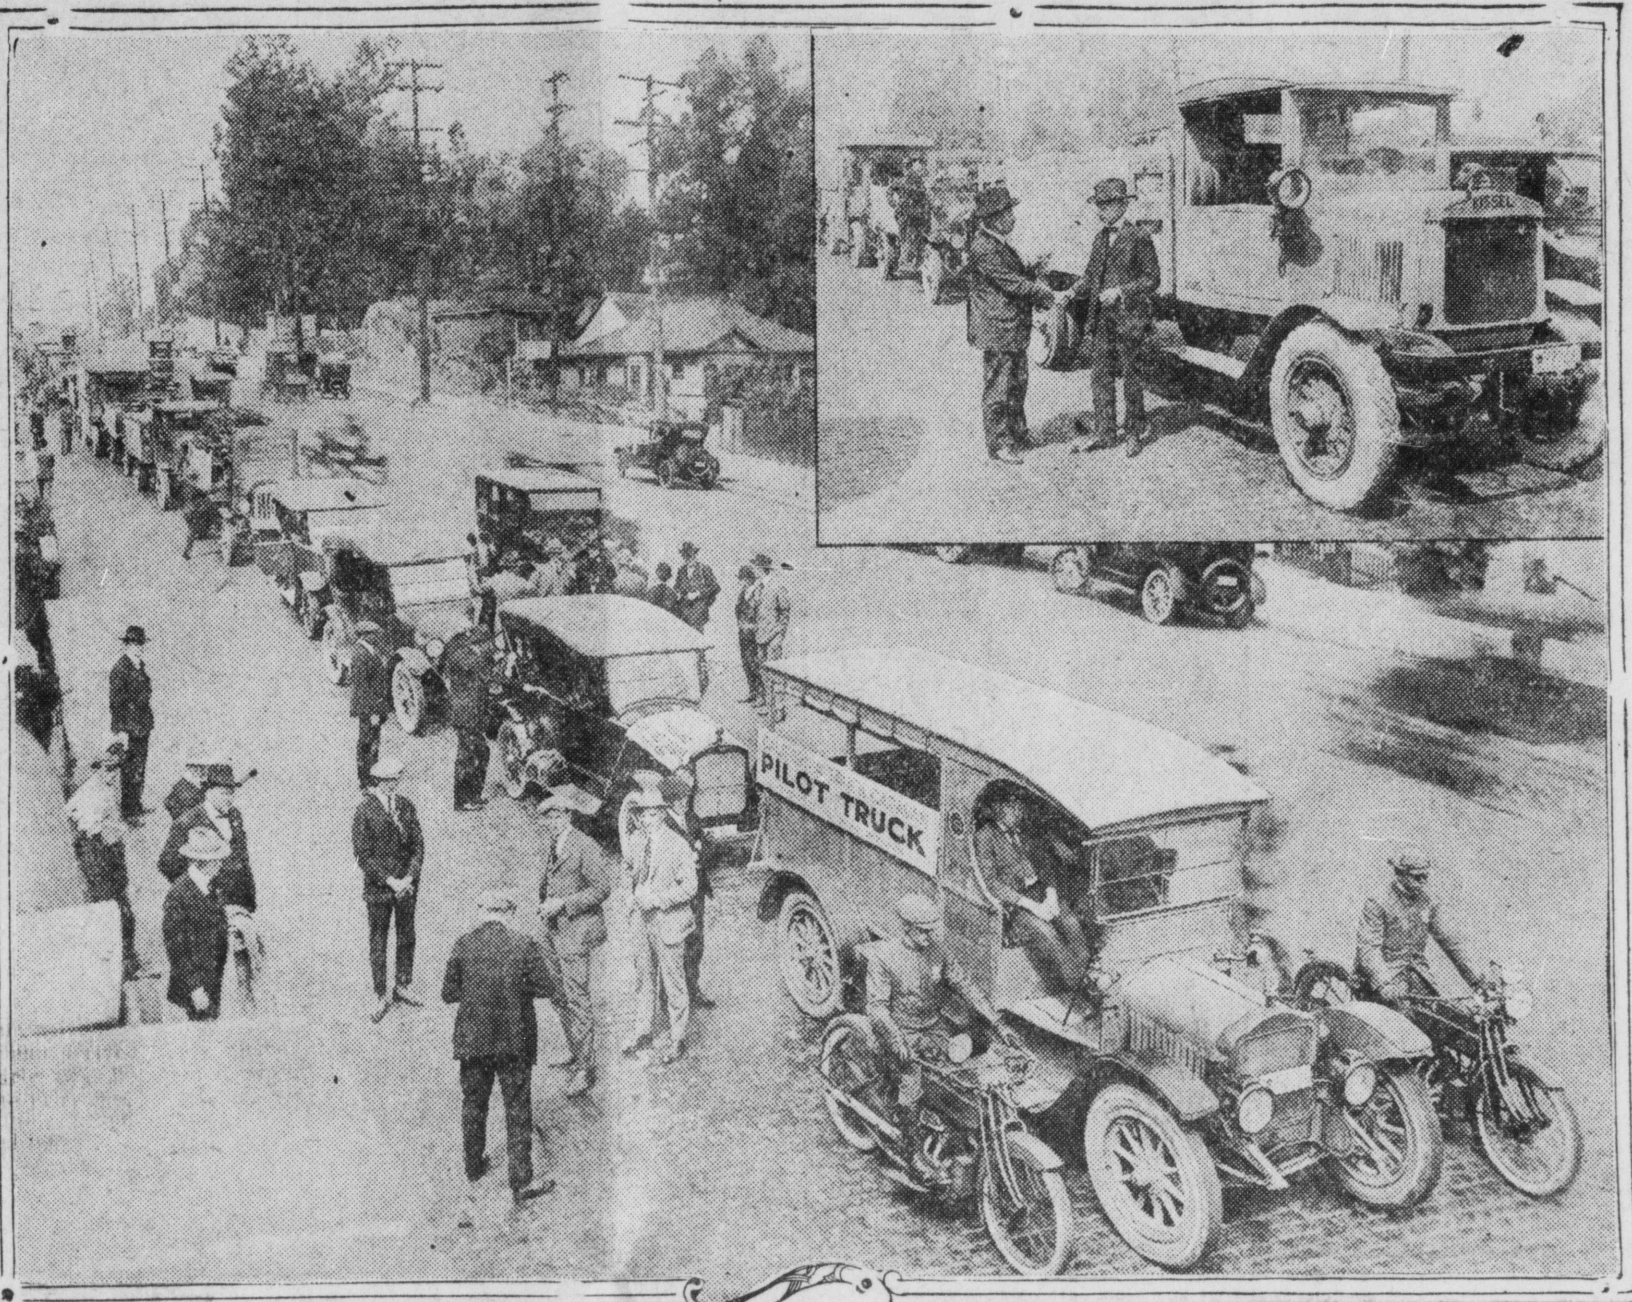

Bob Speed, former alfalfa grower of Paulerino and correspondent for the Register from that thriving section, has been hitting high speed since he decided that farming was not the life for him and that city life offered his budding ambition opportunity to attain its full height. He has gotten into the newspaper game in South San Francisco and today is managing editor of the Enterprise of that place. And it may be news to Bob's many friends in this section to know that he has acquired a wife since leaving here. In this he again has demonstrated that he is living up to his name. And he has started to acquire a family of Speeds with speed, for he sends the Register a marked copy of his publication announcing that his wife presented him with twins on October 1—a boy and a girl. Bob certainly has an "arm full" and his hosts of friends here will find considerable enjoyment in imagining him sitting in an arm chair at home and bouncing a kid on each knee—and this when they look back to the days when Bob was down on the farm and didn't have time hardly even to take a "chicken on his lap" for a brief moment because of his energetic way in handling his farming activities. And then, again, Bob didn't have much disposition to fool with "chickens." Commenting editorially on the increase in his family, Bob says: "WE RISE TO REMARK. With all due consideration for the conservatism which always characterizes the editorial utterances in this family newspaper, the editor rises to remark that there never were finer babies born in California than the twins which arrived in South San Francisco Wednesday night and which are already trying to call him 'daddy.' And, by ginger, he is prepared to defend that statement against all comers. They are boy and girl, yes, sir!"

DEMobilIZATION CAMP, PRESIDIO WILL CLOSE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—The demobilization camp at the Presidio will soon be a thing of the past. Most of the men from France have been discharged, and when the last troops are returned from Siberia the office will close and the "soldier-to-civilian" machine will cease to operate. The demobilization office is at present turning the returned soldiers from khaki to civies in twenty-four hours, and at the rate of 300 a day. The record day was last April when 1250 were discharged. Over 55,000 have been given their unconditional release by Uncle Sam.

START MANUFACTURING CENSUS NEXT JANUARY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—A statistical picture of manufacturing in the United States will be obtained by 1500 special agents of the Census Bureau, who will begin collection of information January 2, when the decennial population count is started. The manufacturing census, however, is separate. The last one was made for 1914. It showed factories under normal conditions for seven months, after which the world war was in progress, and a temporary industrial depression occurred. The coming census, which will cover the year 1919, will show factories in the transition from a war to a peace time basis. It is estimated it will find there are approximately 300,000 manufacturing plants, employing between 9,000,000 and 10,000,000 persons, and having an annual output valued at from 40 to 50 billions. After 1920, manufacturing censuses are to be made biennially. They will show wages, costs, value and nature of output, and other detailed facts.

LABOR LEGISLATION BEFORE CONVENTION

Estimates were presented to the federation showing approximately 275,000 trade unionists in the state.

Big Fleet Making First Tour of Southland With Loaded Cars Boosting "Ship by Truck" Movement; Enroute to Riverside Fair

Twenty-eight auto trucks and one trailer, carrying 100,000 pounds of hay, machinery, paper, flour, oil, and other merchandise, and with a party of forty men, reached Santa Ana this afternoon at 3:30 on Southern California's first motor truck tour. The caravan spent last night in Long Beach and came here via Downey, Norwalk and Garden Grove, stopping at Artesia for lunch. This afternoon and tonight will be spent in Santa Ana, and at 8 tomorrow morning the caravan will get under way north-bound through Anaheim, Fullerton and Whittier, and will reach the Riverside fair on Thursday, which has been named Motor Truck Day there. A. N. Wayne is the fleet commander, and the operating committee is composed of A. C. Bushnell of the W. L. Hughes Company; A. D. Heartz of the Moreland Truck Company; W. S. Beardsley of the H. L. Arnold Company, and J. J. Canavan of the White Auto Company. Fred W. Yeager of Fullerton, county Federal agent, joined the motor truck party as it entered the county and will remain with it with one of his trucks.

WILL HOLD TEST TO GET CENSUS ENUMERATORS

Examinations for U. S. census enumerators will be held in Orange county some time during the week beginning October 27, according to official notice received by Postmaster C. D. Over-shiner today from C. G. Rowan, census supervisor for this Ninth Census district. It will be necessary to confine the examinations to the most central points in the county. Definite announcement of the dates and places of holding the examinations will be made later. The tests will be open to all American citizens between the ages of 18 and 70, Rowan's letter states, and they will consist mainly of subjects chosen to determine the proficiency of the applicants in spelling, penmanship and simple English and their ability to fill out, accurately and legibly, sample schedules of population and agriculture. Approximately 350 enumerators will be required in this Ninth district, which consists of Riverside, San Bernardino, Orange, Inyo, Mono, San Diego and Imperial counties. This would give Orange county probably 30 to 50 enumerators. The compensation for enumerators in this district has not yet been definitely fixed, Rowan writes, but it will be such as will enable persons of ordinary industry to make from $4 to $6 a day on a per capita basis, or a corresponding sum in subdivisions of the district in which the per diem scale is prescribed. The period of enumeration will be fifteen days in incorporated cities and thirty days in territory outside of corporate limits. Those wishing to take the local examinations should apply at once to the Supervisor of the Census, 317 Federal Building, San Diego, California.

COUNCIL TAKES ACTION UPON IMPORTANT PROJECT

Disgraceful Feature on State Highway Is to Be Eliminated

The decks stand cleared today for action in repairing East First street, between Main street and the Santa Fe tracks, the city council last night deciding on action at once. The city engineer and city attorney were directed to take the steps necessary to re-establish the grade of First street from the city limits on the east to the limits on the west. This is the first step, and following the adoption of an ordinance establishing the grade will come the other proceedings for the work, the law of 1911 to be followed. City Engineer Hoy submitted an estimate of the cost of improving the street. His figures were $13,098.61. The amount of new base that will have to be put in could not be definitely determined, and Hoy made his figures high enough to cover all possibilities. The section of the street between First and the P. E. tracks is rough, but there is no break in the base, and there was some discussion as to whether this should be included. It was deemed best to repair the street for the whole distance and this will be done. The First street pavement was put in six years ago and never has been satisfactory, the roadbed being wavy. The base on some parts is badly shattered. It is on the state highway and does not make a very favorable impression for the city upon the minds of tourists traveling through the city.

Quick Repairs Needed
"This is a proposition where if we let it continue another year, the pavement will be ground to pieces, and it will cost the property owners much more to put in a new pavement than to repair the present at this time," declared Tubbs.

Members of the city council are now engaged in ascertaining the wishes of the property owners on North Main street as to what they prefer in the way of improvements there. The street has been divided into five sections, with each councilman assigned to one section to get an expression from the people. The councilmen are making personal calls on the owners, putting up the following four questions: Do you want the car line to remain? Which do you prefer, double or single track? Favor widening street by eliminating parking? Do you want ornamental lights? Mitchell and Chapman are the only members who have worked on the street. The majority want the car line to remain, with sentiment about evenly divided as between the single and double track. The sentiment of those seen is overwhelmingly against widening the street by elimination of the parking and about four-fifths are in favor of ornamental lights.

Answering Criticism of His Failure to get paving under way on East Fifth street, Steele Finley declared that it had been impossible for him to get labor. He had made every effort to secure help on the job and had offered laborers as high as $6.00 per day. With the beet-sugar campaign, bean harvesting and walnut gathering in progress, there is a big demand for help. He thought that the situation would ease up within the next week or two and stated that he believed he would have a crew of men at work on the street by the end of this week or the first of next.

Restaurant License Denied
Application for a license to conduct a restaurant at 1026 East Fourth street was denied Mrs. Ida Cassidy, upon recommendation of City Marshal Jernigan.

Electric Sign Requests
Request of the U. S. Coffee Store for permission to erect an electric sign at 229 West Fourth street, as referred to the fire commissioner, as was also a request for permission to install an electric sign at the Crown Stage depot on North Main. Request of the S. A. V. I. Co. for deed to city property in Santiago creek, which the company wishes to cross with a pipe line, was referred to the city attorney and city engineer. The auto parking ordinance was given its first reading and referred back to the city attorney. It is proposed to make a time limit for parking on the business streets, the limit

There Are a Variety of Things That Any Novice Can Look After

It is when you drive your car over rough roads that all sorts of rattles and squeaks are heard, most of which you cannot locate, says a local motoring authority.

I have heard so many say that they would like to know where certain noises are coming from because once located it is usually an easy matter to find some means of remedying them. The next time you are confronted with this problem the first thing to do is to attempt to find the location of the sound, that is whether forward or rear. After that keep in mind the kind of a sound it is, that is, whether tinny or more solid in character. The average owner allows the parts to remain loose until the car goes to the shop, all because of his inability to find the exact cause. Here is an easy way to trace certain noises:

Fenders are commonly blamed for a lot of noises that are caused by license plates, hood, lamps and other attached parts. When the car is stopped, grip the fender firmly and pull and push it in all directions. If you can detect any looseness first find out if the supporting brackets are loose. These brackets are attached to the frame and to the fender. The bolts holding the bracket in place against the frame or the fender attachment may be loose and these may easily be tightened. Some fenders have insufficient points of attachments, so that no matter how tight they are against the bracket they will make a noise. Some owners rivet an extra piece to such fenders and bind them more firmly against the frame. The makeshift method is to force sticks of wood between the fender and the frame to cause binding.

Mud Pans Noisy
Mud aprons and mud pans are common causes of noises sometimes difficult to find. The apron on front under the radiator is usually held in place by small bolts and nuts. If these become even slightly loose the apron may cause an uncomfortable noise because of car vibration alone. The underpan attached to the frame often becomes noisy because of frame weaving.

I have seen owners attempt to trace a noise and tighten everything in sight without getting results. Head lamp glass fronts will confuse an owner in this way. They will rattle in their frames and emit a tinny sound very much like that of a loose license plate. In company with the noises mentioned is that produced by a cooling fan. Few owners suspect a fan of making a noise, but loose blades or mud play in the fan often produce the tinny sound so common to the cheaper grades of cars.

Some of the low priced cars on the market are fitted with radius rods and poorly designed gearshift mechanisms. The radius rods must have freedom of movement up and down but not necessarily sideways. In going over rough roads these radius rods may rattle and make it very difficult for one to give an exact location to the sound. Brake rods when they are long or of small diameter and not well supported at the ends will rattle in the same way. The radius rods usually have some means for preventing rattle but the brake rods have not. Because the brake rods move it is very difficult to provide means for preventing them from rattling. In some cars wooden guides can be installed; in others a coil spring arrangement can be used, the usual difficulty is in finding some point of attachment for the anti-rattling devices. For the Ford car and certain others, special anti-rattling devices may be purchased at accessory stores.

Many Hood Noises
A most peculiar sound is produced by the hood when frame weaving causes it to move. Often it produces a squeak. The pads (often of leather or fabric) between the hood and cowl and hood and radiator, when badly worn make the sound worse. Some owners oil these pads so the hood will slide over. In the cheaper cars it is almost impossible to cure a hood from making noise.

Spring shackles with side play may be noisy on a road that is only slightly rough. Often the sound is like an engine knock and the owner does not know what on earth to look for. This sound may sometimes be heard only when a turn is made.

Speedometer gears, the speedometer shaft, loose steering tie rod or drag link are other causes of peculiar noises often difficult to find. The best method to use to find any of the noises mentioned is to handle each part. For example, if the head lamp glass fronts are suspected, thump the glass with the hand and listen for the sound. If the tie rod is suspected, grasp it firmly in one hand and try to shake it to produce the sound you hear when the car is in motion.

COACH BANS TRAINING TABLE AT ST. MARY'S

OAKLAND, Oct. 7.—There will be no training table for football players at St. Mary's College this year, Coach Wilson announced today. Wilson does not believe in a training table for his athletes.

"Not only the football team but every man in any college should be fit," he says. "The only training table is the main dining room."

Plans For Year Discussed and Announcements of Prizes Made

A crowd of more than fifty boys from the various communities of the county attended the Round-Up of the Y. M. C. A. boys of the county, held in the Santa Ana river Saturday evening.

After gathering a large pile of wood for the bonfire and playing a lively game of indoor ball, the fire was started and all joined in on the wiener bake and later gave good account of the load of watermelons furnished by Eugene Griset of Greenville.

The program consisted of the plans for the year being presented by the secretaries; announcement of those who had won swimming awards at the summer camp at Catalina; and the awarding of the Efficiency Cup, given to the club that won the most points in the point system during the year, the Highlander Club of Santa Ana.

Thirty boys won the swimmers' button, seven won the beginners' button and the following won the lifesavers' fob: James Smalley, Douglas Keech, Santa Ana; Hale Winterrowd, Jim Fuller, Fred Hobbs and Norval Moore, Orange; Merrill Gregory, Fullerton; John Wents and Robert Easton, Anaheim; William and Ben Jones, Olive; Charles Lake, Garden Grove.

Following are the requirements for earning a fob: Swim 200 yards, using two different strokes; swim 50 yards on back, using hands; 50 yards on back, without using hands; dive for 10-pound rock in fifteen feet of water, bring it to the surface and deposit it in a row boat; tow a person 25 yards; demonstrate in water two methods of release from drowning person; demonstrate three on land; demonstrate a satisfactory method of resuscitation; row boat satisfactorily; swim 25 yards with everyday clothes on, remove them in the water, place them on raft, and then gather them into one hand and swim back to shore, holding clothes out of the water.

These tests as well as all aquatics were in charge of Don Anderson of Santa Ana, who has attended a number of Y. M. C. A. camps of this county and has earned the lifesavers' fob.

being two hours. This is being done to prevent monopolization of parking space in front of business houses. The rule will prevail on all the streets within the zone prescribed for parking in the ordinance.

Day employees of the city hereafter will be paid twice a month instead of once. Semi-monthly payment will assist the workmen in reducing the high cost of living by making it possible to pay cash for supplies instead of having them charged to be paid on the first of the month.

J. H. Cochran was appointed inspector for the paving work on Grand avenue.

The sanitary inspector was directed to submit at the next meeting plans for a truck bed to be used by the city in gathering the garbage.

CRIME WAVE IS

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c and 25c.—Adv.

Too Ill
to Work

Scores of Women

in homes, stores, offices and factories are not fit to be at work. They toil on day after day and year after year suffering with distressing weaknesses and derangements, hoping against hope that they will soon feel better, but how can they hope to do good work or escape permanent invalidism?

Such women are in danger of derangement of women's functions. They owe it to themselves to try that good old fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been restoring American Women to health and strength.

Here is a Notable Example

Joplin, Missouri.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see if it really would do as it was advertised and it sure did, and more. I was weak and could not do much work, had bearing down pains and had to go to bed. I learned about the Vegetable Compound from my mother and my husband told me to get it. After taking one bottle I was able to be on my feet most of the time and do my work again. I have a baby eleven months old and I have done all my own work, even the washing and ironing since she was three weeks old. I certainly recommend your great medicine to everyone who complains of female trouble and I am more than willing for you to use my testimonial."

—Mrs. TIMOTHY GRANEY, 426 Connor Ave., Joplin, Mo.

And Another

Chicago, Illinois.—"I suffered for four years with pains in my sides, hips and legs and a terrible backache. I could not do any work at all. I was treated by many physicians but they did not help me. I read in one of your books where other women have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I tried it and it helped me very much so that now I can do everything in the house. I have told my friends about Vegetable Compound and you have my permission to use this letter."—Mrs. I. OVENSTEIN, 902 S. Marshfield Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Sheriff Jackson points to the theft of $400 worth of tires from the Owl Tire and Rubber Company's shop here on Friday night and to the theft of $150 worth of tires and accessories from the Tustin garage on Saturday night as strengthening his belief that thieves and marauders will be unusually active this winter.

"The numbers of reports I have already received this fall from various cities in Southern California regarding burglaries lead me to believe that we are on the verge of having to cope with an unusually large amount of crime during the winter months," said Sheriff Jackson today. "It has been my experience that when we receive as many reports at the beginning of a winter as we have been receiving during the past few weeks, it generally means that burglars and thieves will be active."

LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 7.—It is quite the thing to go out to the Metro location in the evening and watch the "movies" at work. The powerful lights make it as light as day for a great distance around on the rocks and sea. They have a wind machine and large fire hose, which are used to make most realistic storms. One night last week the crowd had an opportunity to display its patience, as the scene, which was to be taken early in the evening, was not shot until 3 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William Swift Daniell are in Lyme, N. Y., where they went to welcome a second granddaughter. Mr. Daniell, who is one of Laguna's popular artists, is doing some sketching there.

Frank W. Cuprien is in Los Angeles for a short time to attend the art exhibitions, which are being held there this month.

A. E. Tanberg, who recently bought one of the Kirkly houses on the front above the hotel for a home, has, it is reported, bought the Green Dragon confectionery shop as an investment. Mrs. Tanberg, who is an artist, has been appointed one of the jury which will judge the next pictures to be exhibited at the Laguna gallery.

Mrs. Harriet E. Norton, the Misses Mary and Helen Norton and John Norton came down from Riverside Friday and are settled in their cottage. They expect to spend October here. This summer is the first in many years that they have not spent in Laguna. Miss Helen Norton will paint while here. She is a regular exhibitor at the art gallery. Mr. Norton was in Laguna about a month ago, directing the building of the ship used by a motion picture company at Goff Island.

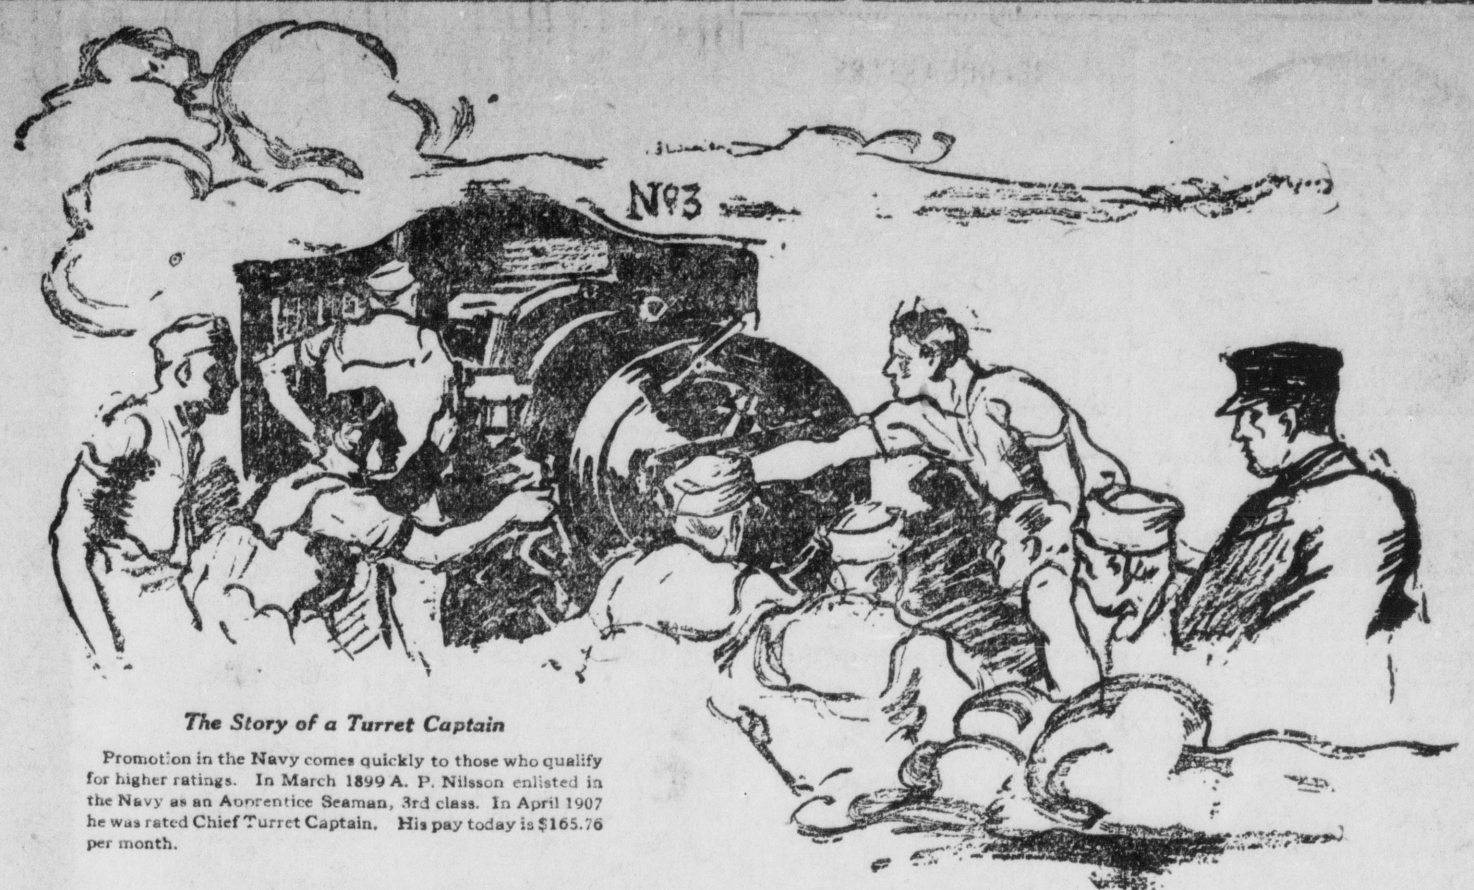

Mrs. Skidmore and her children motored to Santa Monica in their new car to visit Mrs. Geier.

C. A. Jones has been in Los Angeles for a few days on business.

Rev. A. M. Prewitt and Mrs. Prewitt are spending a few days in Laguna. Rev. Prewitt was at one time, pastor of the Laguna chapel and his former parishioners had an opportunity to hear him once again, as he preached at the chapel Sunday morning. His now has a church in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Johnson and son left Saturday for a trip to Orange to visit her daughter, Mrs. Handy. She will also visit in Anaheim, her old home, before returning to Laguna.

A. A. Adams and son spent the week-end at their cottage, "Sleepy

REEL them off—"Rio", Gibraltar, Ceylon, Yokohama—all the great ports of the world—are they only places on the map to you—or are they ports where you've gone sailing in from the high seas with every eye along the shore turned admiringly on your big ship—your ship!

Are the great world ports nothing to you but little red spots in your school geography, or are they real towns whose funny streets you've walked—whose strange sights you've seen—whose magnificence you've admired—towns in which you've greeted the world's sailor men from the Seven Seas?

Make each port you visit mean another big experience. Curious spots, beautiful spots, ugly spots, famous spots, and every one of them more interesting to see than anything you ever read about in all your life. Every ocean has a United States ship sailing for some port worth seeing.

Enlist for two years. Excellent opportunities for advancement. Four weeks holidays with pay each year. Shore leave to see inland sights at ports visited. Men always learning. Good food and first uniform outfit free. Pay begins the day you enlist. Get full information from your nearest recruiting station. Represents preferred ownership in the most essential single industrial organization in California today.

We can get along, if necessary, without telephones We can do fairly well without trains and street cars. We have done for a time without running water. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company serves 74 per cent of the gas and electricity consumed in Northern California and 48 per cent in the entire State.

The Company has realized its responsibility and has served the public well. Its rates have been lowered whenever possible and raised only when absolutely necessary. Its earnings are large, but they represent only 8 per cent upon its acknowledged property value. It has paid dividends on this preferred stock uninterruptedly for ten years.

DEFENSE BOARD TELLS HOW TO CUT PRICES

Produce More Goods and Co-operate Is Urged By Council

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The United States Council of National Defense, composed of the secretaries of war, navy, interior, agriculture, commerce, and labor, has made a careful investigation of the high-cost-of-living problem, and finds:

That the nation's productive powers have not been fully utilized since the armistice.
That too few goods, notably the necessities of life, have been produced, and that even some of these goods have been withheld from the market, and therefore from the people.
That the high cost of living is due in part to unavoidable war-waste and increase of money and credit.
That there has been and is considerable profiteering, intentional and unintentional.

The council believes that the remedies for the situation are:
To produce more goods, and to produce them in proportion to the needs of the people.
To stamp out profiteering and stop unnecessary hoarding.
To enforce vigorously present laws and promptly to enact such further laws as are necessary to prevent and punish profiteering and needless hoarding.

Better Co-Operation
To bring about better co-operation and method in distributing and marketing goods.
To keep both producer and consumer fully informed as to what goods are needed and as to what supplies are available, so that production may anticipate the country's demands.
Goods and not money are the means of life. Better standards of living are impossible without producing more goods. Man cannot consume what has not been produced.
At the war's end our allies had desperate need of the essentials of life. We have had to share our resources with them, but this drain will gradually lessen. In so far as our shortage of goods is due to this cause we can well afford to be patient.

It is just as essential that we have patience with the economic situation here at home. The process of production requires time. If production is rapidly increased, vastly improved conditions will prevail in America when the results of present and future labor begin to appear.

Team Work Imperative
Team work is imperative. It is just as essential between retailer, wholesaler and producer, as it is between employer and employee. One group of producers cannot wait on another group. The manufacturer, the farmer, the distributor must each immediately assume his part of the burden and enter upon his task. The nation cannot afford curtailment of goods vital to the people.

On American business rests a grave responsibility for efficient co-operation in bringing about full and proportionate production. On American labor rests an equally grave responsibility to attain maximum unit production and maintain uninterrupted distribution of goods if labor itself is not to suffer from further rises in the cost of living.

The entire nation—producer, distributor and consumer alike—should return to the unity that won the war. Group interest and undue personal gain must give way to the good of the whole nation if the situation is to be squarely met.
Our common duty now, fully as much as in the war, is to work and to save. In the words of the President in his address to the country on August 25, 1919, only "by increasing production, and by rigid economy and saving on the part of the people, can we hope for large decreases in the burdensome cost of living which now weighs us down."

Work, save, co-operate, produce.
(Signed)

Secretary of War and Chairman of the Council.

TRANSPORTATION IS NEEDED BY HAWAII

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 7.—Transportation is the one big question which has the immediate attention of everyone in the Hawaiian Islands. Everything that is going to happen seems predicated on "when we get the ships."

At present three steamers operating on regular schedule, connect the islands with the Americas mainland. In addition to these, Japanese steamers touch at Honolulu, but are unable to furnish any real transportation facilities.

It is estimated that 500 persons are waiting to get to the mainland from the islands and the list is added to as rapidly as those who have been waiting are carried away. To get out of the islands the would-be traveler registers his desires at the steamship office. If he is wise—and most are—he registers at all of the steamship offices. Then, if he is patient, in the course of two or three months he may get his turn to purchase a ticket. But better times are looked for in about three months. Word has been received in the islands that about the last of November several of the large steamers which formerly operated out of San Francisco to Hawaii and which were used in the transport service during the war, will be restored to their owners and be sent back to the island trade.

DODSON TELLS THE HORROR OF CALOMEL

You Don't Need to Sicken, Grip or Salivate Yourself to Start Liver

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated. You feel headachy, your stomach may be sour, your breath bad, your skin sallow and you believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start liver and bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling splendid. It is perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate.—Adv.

LAGUNA ARTISTS SHOW PICTURES IN L. A. PARK

William V. Cahill and Jack Wilkinson Smith Are Prize Winners

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 7.—After seeing a list of the artists showing pictures in the California Art Club exhibition at the Los Angeles Exposition Park gallery, the reason for Laguna's pride in her artists is apparent. Wm. V. Cahill, with his figure painting "Thoughts of the Sea" won the first Clarence Black prize of $150. Miss Katherine Kavanaugh posed for this picture, which was painted in William Swift Daniell's studio, which Mr. Cahill has been occupying this summer.

Jack Wilkinson Smith was awarded the second prize of $100 for his "California Coast." Honorable mention was given Orrin White's High Seira picture, "Mountains of Light."

Miss Mabel Alvarez has two portraits, Miss Anna Hills a marine. Miss Kavanaugh has two pictures in. She is, by the way, painting in Arizona during October and November to get the brilliant colorings of the fall lights on the mountains and desert. Marie B. Kendall is showing a Laguna landscape. Lillian P. Ferguson has a picture of some large rocks.

Benjamin Brown has two pictures in. B. Clarkson Colman has his "Song of the Western Sea." Edgar A. Payne entered two of his Sierra pictures. Hanson Puthuff has two pictures, "Majestic Hills" and "Scintillating Light." In fact, nearly all of the artists in the list have been, at one time or another, represented at the Laguna gallery, and a great many of them belong to Laguna's regular colony.

Many of the pictures shown at the California Art Club exhibit, and also that of the Ten Painters, at the Knast galleries have been hung in the Laguna Beach gallery.

The October exhibit of the Laguna Beach Art Association opened with a reception Saturday night. Mary Austin Oliver, Miss Emily White and Conway Griffith receiving. There are six-five pictures entered this month and it is, if possible, a more colorful collection than any of the foregoing.

There is a very interesting exhibit of ancient book binding at the Los Angeles library, which is well worth a visit to anyone who is in the city for the other exhibitions.

VENICE, Oct. 7.—"The bootleggers must go." Thus declared Chief of Police Loomis today, when he made it known he had obtained the services of several out-of-town plain-clothes men to assist local officers. Recent investigation gave cause to believe that the liquor laws are being violated and that outside detection is needed to get proper evidence upon which to base prosecutions.

PASADENA, Oct. 7.—Work will be started within a few days by the city on the first link of the Arroyo Seco highway. The city is to build one and one-half miles of road from Ventura street, Altadena, to Teddy's Outpost in the Arroyo. The city commission has appropriated $22,000 for the work.

REDONDO Beach, Oct. 7.—Columbus Day is to be fittingly observed here next Sunday when the chamber of commerce, in conjunction with the Knights of Columbus lodges of Redondo, Long Beach, Santa Monica and San Pedro will put on a celebration the first and the finest of its kind yet seen at the seaside.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—Blind couples will dance to lively jazz tunes at the New Year's dinner to be given blind and crippled Angelenos by

"Uncle Mose" Lowenstein, widely known philanthropist. The dinner will be spread in Native Sons Hall, 134 West Seventeenth street, and arrangements will be made for several hundred guests. One hundred turkeys will be cooked with the usual "fixin's."

LONG BEACH, Oct. 7.—C. J. Walker, a bank president and former head of the local Y. M. C. A., wielded a pick, and F. C. A. building, Sixth street and American avenue.

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 7.—Roy Wolf, aged 17, who was convicted of the murder of Elmer E. Greer, Taft rent-car driver, who was killed with a hammer, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Howard A. Peairs to be hanged at San Quentin.
